

Communist Troops Seen in Vicinity Of Indian Outpost

300 Chinese Soldiers Surround Area Manned by 30; No Fighting

NEW DELHI (AP)—The Indian government said today Red Chinese troops have "appeared in the vicinity" of an Indian outpost on the disputed northeast frontier but said "there has been no clash."

Unofficial but reliable sources said an estimated 300 Chinese soldiers invaded Indian territory Tuesday and surrounded a post a mile inside the Himalayan border manned by 30 men of the Assam Rifles.

There was no indication of any fighting. One unidentified report from the northeast said the Chinese disarmed the Indian troops and advanced nine miles farther into India.

A spokesman for the foreign ministry announced:

"Some Chinese forces have appeared in the vicinity of one of our posts in the area of the tri-junction of Bhutan, the Northeast Frontier Agency and Tibet. There has been no clash."

Conflicting unofficial reports indicated the Chinese might be pressing toward Towang, an important Buddhist monastery town 15 miles inside the border. Three years ago the Dalai Lama, fleeing from the Red Chinese across the 14,210-mile-high pass from Tibet, made a stopover at Towang.

The Chinese Communists claim the Northeast Frontier Agency's 36,000 square miles—a mountainous, largely unsettled area—belongs to Tibet. India maintains the border is the McMahon line, drawn by the British along the peaks of the Himalayas.

Four Skirmishes

The Chinese also claim 12,000 square miles of Ladakh, a bleak, barren plateau near the western end of the Chinese-Indian border. There have been at least four skirmishes there this summer. Ladakh on Indian maps is part of the state of Kashmir. Chinese troops have entered the Northeast Frontier Agency seven times in the past six years but withdrawn each time. Three Indian soldiers were killed and 100 taken captive in the last attack, which occurred Tuesday.

Face-to-Face Exchange

Kuehn and Reynolds Have Informal Debate

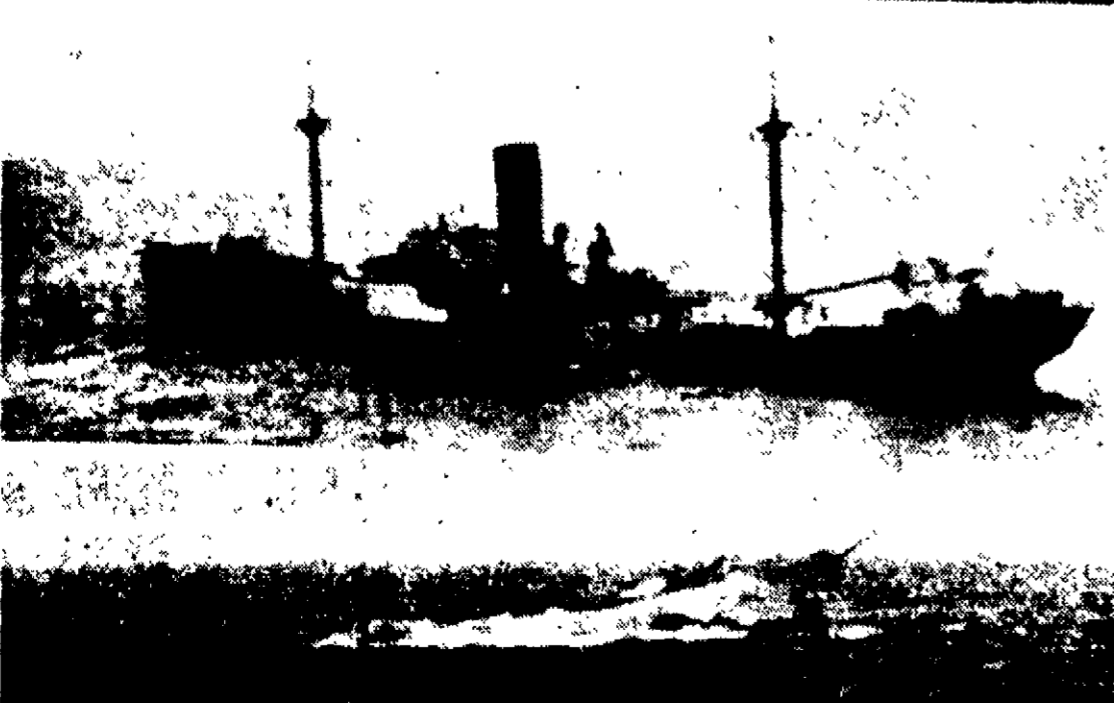

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The nominees for Governor of Wisconsin may be having their first face-to-face exchange in a series of informal debates held in a Milwaukee hotel room early Wednesday night.

After a clash in a Milwaukee hotel room early Wednesday night, when both were keeping track of the primary election returns, Republican Philip G. Kuehn and Democrat John W. Reynolds had an informal face-to-face exchange at a dinner Wednesday night.

With both on hand to address the Wisconsin Association of Insurance Agents meeting, Kuehn said, "John I am going to wage a meeting this afternoon to discuss rough and tough a contest in the next right weeks as I know how."

Reynolds said, "I am afraid we will have the same smear tactics that Wisconsin's six Democratic we had with Wilbur Rank a few congressional candidates had days ago."

And later in a speech given to the John F. Kennedy Friday.

Nixon Begins 'Slugging' in Vote Campaign

Anti-Communism Issue Enters California Race

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Richard Nixon came out slugging in launching his fall campaign for governor.

"In order to win," he said, "you have to fight hard and I'm going to fight hard."

He added, "I'm going to fight clean."

Nixon sounded a militant note in a kickoff of speeches Wednesday at Pomona, San Diego, Sacramento and Oakland that brought the anti-communism issue to the forefront of the torrid gubernatorial race.

Under Democratic Edmund G. Brown, he said California ranks first in crime, first in spending and first in taxes. He said, Brown has failed to push through a similar anti-communism measure.

Housecleaning

"When I get to Sacramento, you'll see the biggest housecleaning since the days of Hiram Johnson," the state's Republican reform governor who served from 1911 to 1915 Nixon said. In his opening swing, Nixon took on all of his leading critics. He called Brown weak and ineffective and said "It's time the first state has a governor who is not an ignoramus on international affairs." He offered an advance welcome to any Kennedy, from the President east of the mountain state out to campaign for Brown, asserting "We'll lick them all."

Forthright Statement Expected

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy was reported today to be planning a forthright statement at his news conference tonight on the Communist military buildup in Cuba.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., gave newsmen this report after a morning White House meeting of Democratic congressional leaders with the President.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate Democratic floor leader, said he was sure Kennedy would have a great deal more to say about the Cuban situation at the news conference.

The congressional leaders said they had a lengthy discussion with the President on his request for standby authority to call 150,000 Reserves to active duty.

Tougher Action

A resolution to grant this authority has run into Republican demands in the Senate for tougher and more specific action. Some of the GOP members want to put in amendments calling for strong action against Cuba or any other Communist Moves.

Humphrey, assistant Democratic floor leader, said he hoped that the Senate would reject these Republican moves.

He asserted that Republicans were trying to make Cuba an issue in the current congressional election campaigns and termed this "mischievous and reckless."

He hinted that Democrats may offer a substitute for varied earlier GOP proposals.

In any event, Humphrey said the Senate plans to call up and pass the Reserves measure before it quits for the day.

Bipartisan Approval

Mansfield, in a separate interview, said he hoped Congress would come up finally with a bipartisan approach.

Faced with new proposals, Mansfield sidetracked temporarily the call-up bill. Instead of putting it at the top of the agenda, he scheduled in its place the $500-million mass transportation bill.

Evidently he hoped to use the time to work out a procedure for jettisoning the amendments for now, possibly by sending them to the Foreign Relations and Armed Forces committees.

'T-Men' Raid Gambling Sites, 105 Arrested

WASHINGTON (AP)—Treasury men barged in on gambling spots across the nation in a series of raids Wednesday that brought 105 arrests.

The 18-state drive against gamblers charged with failing to buy $50-a-year federal tax stamps was the eighth in two years by federal tax agents.

They raided 96 gambling spots in 50 cities, seizing automobiles, slot machines, pinball devices and $18,500 in cash.

The government agents hit hardest in Pittsburgh, Newport News, Va., Los Angeles, San Francisco, New Orleans La., Austin, Tex., and Baltimore, Md.

The Internal Revenue Service said 67 slot and pinball machines and 19 automobiles were seized by the raiders.

Kennedy Determined U. S. Will Land on Moon by 1970

President Returns From 4-Day Tour of Missile Installations

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy returned from a two-day tour of major space installations, determined the United States will be first in space and have a man on the moon by 1970.

The President also made clear during the exhaustive inspection tour ending late Wednesday at the McDonnell Aircraft plant in St. Louis, that he intends to press his challenge to Russia to reserve outer space for peaceful purposes.

At the plant Kennedy got a close-up view of the work being done on Gemini spacecraft designed to take an American to the moon and back. He chose the site of the manned space-craft center, for his only formal speech.

Boiling Sun
Speaking to 50,000 people under a boiling sun in Rice University Stadium, the President declared: "The exes of the world and its restless millions now look up and out to space, to the moon and the planets beyond. And we have vowed that they shall not see it governed by a hostile flag of conquest, but by a banner of peace."

Promising that outer space will not be filled with weapons of mass destruction, Kennedy said, "The vows of this nation can only be fulfilled if we in this nation are first—and therefore we intend to be first."

Of this nation's lunar ambitions, Kennedy said, "We choose to go to the moon in this decade." This, said Kennedy, is a challenge "we intend to win."

Kennedy also gave short talks to officers and employees at the spacecraft center, again at St. Louis and Tuesday at the Army and space agency installations at Huntsville, Ala.

O'Neill reported additional progress made at the night session but declined to go into detail. The situation appeared to be that settlement had been made on some phases of the dispute but others still needed to be worked out.

Neither side would comment, leaving O'Neill as the official spokesman.

Soviet Armored Cars Used Again to Change Guard in West Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet armored cars drove into West Berlin again today to change the guard at the Red war memorial despite pressure from the Western Allies for a switch to buses. The British halted them long enough for an interpreter to give a message to the Soviet commander.

Informed sources said the British, in concert with the United States and France, had earlier given the Soviets a Saturday deadline to stop driving armored cars to the memorial, which lies in the British sector close to the Brandenburg Gate border of the divided city.

The three armored personnel carriers were stopped today as they left the memorial area which is tightly closed to the public.

Stiffer Mental Standards for Reserves Asked

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army is ordering its reserve and National Guard to apply stiffer mental requirements for new recruits.

This will bring reserve-guard standards in line with higher qualifications maintained by the Army. Planning for this move has been under way for about two years.

Army officials said it has no direct connection with plans to streamline the guard and reserve for a more effective response to crises such as Berlin.

Cuban Supply Ship Refueled in Greece

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Soviet and Greek ships carrying Communist supplies to Fidel Castro's Cuba stop to refuel in the southern Greek port of Pyllos, the Athens newspaper Ethnos reported today.

The U.S. State Department issued a memorandum last week calling on its North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies to stop chartering ships to carry Soviet supplies to Cuba.

Speeding 'For the Birds'

BY ANDREW MEISELS
HUNTINGTON, N.Y. (AP)—In case you were wondering, the black-capped chickadee has a top speed of 17 miles per hour.

An ornithologist has learned this from the police. He's been using radar.

Dr. Wesley E. Lanyon, resident director of Kalbeisch Station of the American Museum of Natural History in nearby Dix Hills, has been testing the same kind of radar used by police in clocking the speed of your car.

Lanyon aims his radar set at various birds on the reservation and times them over 2.4-second segments of flight while taking such factors as wind speed into consideration.

Flying Merrily
The birds don't know they're being clocked any more than unsuspicious motorists do, so they fly merrily along.

Chickadees, Ring-Necked Ducks, Turkeys 'Caught' in Radar Trap

Lanyon also has taken his equipment to Florida, to the shore of Long Island Sound and to private hunting clubs, where he observed the speed of birds under fire, certain that they were doing their best.

Lanyon is primarily concerned with long-term studies of animal populations. He was testing the radar to learn how feasible it would be to use such equipment for clocking bird speeds on a wide-scale basis.

"It's terrific," he said today, adding:

"Previously, people would time the flight of birds by pacing them with a car or using a stopwatch to see how long it would take them to fly a known distance. This certainly wasn't very scientific."

"The radar system can show a bird's top speed and how he slows down when he's about to perch."

"I'm hopeful this equipment will be helpful in research programs throughout the nation."

The fastest bird clocked thus far is the ring-necked duck, a hot-rodder capable of up to 66 m.p.h. Less speedy but more shifty is the black duck, which can do 55 m.p.h. and can dodge a hunter's aim by decelerating from this top speed to 44 m.p.h. in 1 1/4 seconds.

Cumbersome Turkey
The wild turkey is pretty wild for a bird of its cumbersome appearance and can do 31 m.p.h. when it's really trying.

The herring gull can do 29 m.p.h., the blue jay 26 and the house finch 21, while the white-throated sparrow is tied with the black-capped chickadee for last place at a slooping 17.

The cool, by the way, belies his name. It travels at a solo and same 37 m.p.h.

Freeman Restores Carl Miller to Agriculture Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman announced today that a department official demoted in connection with the Billie Sol Estes grain storage operations has been restored to his post.

The official is Carl J. Miller, a career employee of 25 years. He was reinstated as chief of the U.S. Warehouse Act branch of the department's marketing service.

The post pays $13,250 a year. Miller had approved bonds posted by Estes, Pecos, Tex., financier to protect the department against possible loss on surplus grains stored in his warehouses. The size of the bond—$700,000—had been criticized by some members of Congress as being insufficient and indicating favored treatment for Estes.

Prepared for Hearing

Freeman made his announcement in testimony prepared for a hearing of the Interdepartmental Relations subcommittee of the House, headed by Rep. L. H. Fountain, D-N.C., which is investigating the Estes grain storage operations.

The reinstatement of Miller underscored the major theme of Freeman's statement—a contention that the Texas financier received no favored treatment from the department in the handling of grain. This testimony paralleled that offered before a Senate investigation subcommittee contending that Estes received no favored treatment in his controversial cotton allotment operations.

"The facts," Freeman said, "completely refute any charges that Estes received favoritism in the determination of the amount of his bond, and any further charges that the bonding policy changed when this administration came into office."

Pathologist's Request Brings Adjournment To Inquest on Soblen

LONDON (AP)—An inquest, convened today into the death of Dr. Robert A. Soblen, was adjourned until Oct. 4 after a pathologist testified he was unable to give the cause of the fugitive spy's death.

Dr. Donald Teare, who performed the post-mortem after the 61-year-old psychiatrist died Tuesday in Hillingdon Hospital, said, "I have a considerable amount of work to do yet."

Another witness at the brief session was Detective Supt. James Mackay of Scotland Yard, who said he is still making inquiries into the case.

Scotland Yard seeks to find how Soblen obtained the massive dose of barbiturates he gulped down a week ago to escape deportation to the United States to serve a life sentence for wartime spying for the Russians.

Tshombe Says Faith In U.N. Destroyed

Calls Clash With Troops 'Imbecility'

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—President Moise Tshombe said a new clash between United Nations troops and gendarmes of his breakaway Katanga Province has destroyed his faith in the U.N. plan to unify the Congo.

The suspicion arose that Tshombe was using the incident as a pretext to prolong his secession. Claiming U.N. Indian troops triggered the clash Wednesday and killed two of his gendarmes, Tshombe told newsmen the incident was an "imbecility" coming at the moment when he and his ministers were examining the U.N. plan.

Believed Claim Faked

A delegate at U.N. headquarters in New York expressed belief Tshombe faked the casualty claim as a pretext for rejecting the U.N. plan to bring his province and its mineral wealth under the authority of the central Congo government. U.S. officials in Washington expressed similar views privately.

Tshombe showed newsmen the bodies of a gendarme (corpse) and a private at an Elisabethville morgue claiming they were killed in the clash. He charged U.N. troops opened up with machine guns after ordering his men away from a roadblock near the U.N. controlled Elisabethville airport.

Not Child's Play

"If the United Nations want war they can have it," Tshombe said. "It won't be child's play like the U.N. Katanga flareups last September and December."

"These imbecilities of the United Nations they would be better returning to India and the other nations they come from."

Elud Mathu, U.N. representative in Elisabethville, gave a different version of the clash. He said 100 Katanga gendarmes surrounded and opened fire on a U.N. patrol of 70 Indian army Gurkhas and the Gurkhas had to fire back.

Mathu said U.N. and gendarme officers discussed the clash late and both sides agreed there had been no casualties.

Tshombe and Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula have approved Thant's plan to end Katanga's secession but negotiations have now reached the critical stage on how to carry it out.

Thant's plan calls for a federal setup in which each province would have considerable local autonomy.

Cuban Agents Imprison 3 Western Newsmen

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Fidel Castro agents have imprisoned three Western newsmen and are trailing others, a Canadian reporter said upon arriving in the United States.

George Bryant of the Toronto Star said Western newsmen are unable to telephone outside the country due to strict censorship being enforced by the regime.

Bryant said the three correspondents, missing for three days, were jailed although he did not see them. They are John Blundis of Reuters, Paul Casanova of the New York Times and his wife, Santa Valdes of the National Broadcasting Co.

Soviets Add New Twists in Berlin Crisis

Communists Trying To Be 'Guarantors' Of 'Free City'

Chicago Daily News Service

BONN — In the shadow of a looming new clash over Soviet armored cars in West Berlin the Communists have added some interesting twists to their war of nerves around the divided city.

West German correspondents unlike West Berliners still are permitted to go to East Berlin and to talk there with Soviet bloc diplomats. These correspondents often are used in turn as pipelines to convey the Soviet line in an unofficial fashion.

Two of them report today they have been told in private that the Soviets consider the use of the armored cars to change the guard at the Soviet war memorial is a "secondary matter."

Real Intentions

What the Soviets really are trying to do according to these accounts is to establish themselves not as a fourth "occupying power" in West Berlin but as one of the "guarantors" of a free city along the lines of Nikita Khrushchev's 4-year-old proposals.

Continuing this line of thought they say the Soviets attach more importance of the civilian agencies they have established already in West Berlin and which they hope to increase.

These now include an "Informant" travel bureau and a "Soviet" office for distributing Soviet films. Both are in the fashionable west end Kurfeuestendamm region.

Most Sensitive

The Soviets say these accounts in nearly identical terms would react "most sensitively" in any West Berlin move to oust these civilian agencies.

The West Berlin government in fact is hoping to fling them out on the ground that Western institutions public and private have no similar opportunities to establish themselves in East Berlin. Both the Soviet agencies of course are official.

Iowa Chick in Manhattan Complains of Loss of Eggs

NEW YORK (AP)—Here's a altered tractor trailer over the story of a chick who lost 7,200 country-calling fruit vegetables and eggs.

The desk officer at a Manhattan police station peered up a bit Wednesday when a honey-haired blonde with sparkling blue eyes—600 cases of eggs. While they turn even in dungarees and plaid overalls in a diner someone made house-stroke in. He peered up off with 20 cases of 7,200 of eggs even more when she told him.

A detective accompanied her. In a truck driver I just in outside the station house came into this town from Iowa. There was a huge tractor trailer and somebody hijacked a cargo of Iowa hopped behind the wheel and delfly backed the vehicle into a narrow space between two other trucks.

British Press Responsible

U. S. Gets Black Eye in Soblen News Reports

Chicago Daily News Service

LONDON — The United States has just suffered an undesired black eye because British newspapers are overtly gun shy about contempt of court proceedings.

Then fear of being cited for contempt is given as the reason why every newspaper in the British Isles publicized the case of the late Dr. Robert A. Soblen, convicted Russian spy and his plea of innocence without citing the evidence produced in court to show his guilt.

While he lay in a London hospital after stabbing himself aboard a plane carrying him from Israel to the United States, even the most conservative British newspapers told of his claim that he had been railroaded.

Prints Claim

Most of them continued to do so even after the British courts had ordered him deported to the United States and after he had taken a fatal dose of sedatives to prevent the order from being carried out.

They also printed the claim of his wife who had flown from New York to his death bed, that he was innocent.

U. S. May Not Pay For European Trip

Rep. Powell Had No Power To Travel at Public Expense

BY WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—If Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., spent any appropriated funds on his recent tour of Europe, he may run into difficulty trying to get reimbursement.

Memo From Complaints

Powell, chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, returned recently from a trip to Europe with two women members of the committee staff. His trip ostensibly was made to study the European Common Market and equal job opportunities for women.

A spokesman for the House Administration Committee, through which vouchers dealing with expenditure of appropriated funds by traveling congressmen must pass, said Powell's committee has no authority to travel abroad at the taxpayers' expense.

Wrong Jurisdiction

Early in the present Congress the House Rules Committee and the House itself approved the customary resolution authorizing Powell's committee to make studies and investigations of matters within its jurisdiction.

While equal pay for women is within the committee's area, matters stemming from the European Common Market lie in the jurisdiction of the House Ways and Means Committee.

The resolution, that gave Powell's committee investigators authority confined its activities to the United States and any of its commonwealths or possessions. It did not authorize travel to foreign countries.

Cannot Approve Bills

The Administration Committee spokesman said the committee cannot approve for payment any vouchers that Powell may submit covering expenses not paid for out of counterpart funds. Counterpart funds are foreign currencies owned by the United States and made available to traveling congressmen by the State Department.

The Administration Committee has no control over the spending of counterpart funds.

Propaganda Fills Air While U. S. Sits Still

Puzzle Why Kennedy Won't Protest Soviet Violation

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Nearly two weeks have passed since the news was given out that the Soviets had begun an arms buildup in Cuba. The United States so far as known has sent no protest to the Soviet government against its flagrant violation of the Monroe Doctrine.

Meanwhile, the Soviet government has taken advantage of America's silence and has filled the broadcast waves of the world with one propaganda blast after another, characterizing President Kennedy's call-up of reserves as a "provocative" action. The latest accusation actually turns the tables on the United States and warns the Washington government that it must not do anything in Cuba to interfere with the Castro government's policy of acquiring Soviet arms. The claim is reiterated that Cuba is arming for "defense." President Kennedy thus has given away a propaganda advantage by appearing to accept the Castro and Soviet arguments that the supplying of arms and the sending of "technicians" are simply for "defensive" purposes.

A Puzzle It is a puzzle just why Kennedy chooses to forfeit the initiative in propaganda. Time was when the American government uttered its protests through formal diplomatic channels and made them public in situations comparable to the present controversy over the Soviet buildup in Cuba. The action of the Moscow government not only affects the Monroe Doctrine as a policy but Cuba could be used as a base is directly related to America's own security. To place missile pads and missiles in Cuba, which is just 90 miles away from our shores, is an act that can be construed as hostile to the United States. Yet the administration tration prefers to say nothing by way of formal protest.

The administration has known for a long time about the Soviet arms buildup in Cuba.

But the American people were not told officially about this until about two weeks ago.

Doctrine Reinterpreted

Senator Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., referring to some of Kennedy's recent statements, said the other day in the Senate:

"The President's comments indicate strongly that the Monroe Doctrine has recently been reinterpreted with major omissions to the extent that the Monroe Doctrine is no longer a bulwark of U.S. foreign policy which it was for over a hundred years."

In Congress, members of both parties are restive and uneasy about the apparent surrender of the initiative to the Soviet Union. Authority to call up 150,000 reserves has been overwhelmingly government that it must not do anything in Cuba to interfere with the Castro government's policy of acquiring Soviet arms. The claim is reiterated that Cuba is arming for "defense."

President Kennedy thus has given away a propaganda advantage by appearing to accept the Castro and Soviet arguments that the supplying of arms and the sending of "technicians" are simply for "defensive" purposes.

Paul Nitze, assistant secretary of defense for international affairs, in a television interview Sunday, really summed up the situation. He wasn't trying to be critical of the administration and, in fact, was endeavoring to defend it. But he unwittingly stated the case against the administration's policy of silence

"I think the grounds for continuing assistance the Soviets are giving to the Cuban people ever to restore their freedom, and, secondly, this helps Castro consolidate his position in Cuba and thereby might increase the possibility that the Monroe Doctrine as a policy but Cuba could be used as a base is directly related to America's own security. Wisconsin Open Primary Policy

The outcome of the Republican primary for governor illustrates again the weakness and the danger in Wisconsin's open primary law.

Philip Kuehn, with the endorsement of the Republican convention, won the Republican nomination for governor by a very small margin. Wilbur Renk made a good run for the office, coming within 50,000 votes of winning, not so much because there was a difference of opinion among Republicans, but largely because many Democrats crossed over to vote in the Republican primary.

There may be some dispute as to who is a Democrat and who is a Republican in Wisconsin because there is no official registration by parties. Voters can enter either primary freely and return to the other party ticket in the general election if they wish. This liberal policy makes it very difficult for party leaders to carry out their responsibilities.

The Republican party is required by the terms of its constitution to endorse one candidate for each office before the primary election. Quite obviously it is the duty of responsible party leadership to indicate a choice for each office as a service to the voters. It must be assumed that active workers in the party are more familiar with the candidates than the average voter and therefore should give the official opinion for what it is worth. This endorsement does not preclude other candidates from entering the primary contest. Mr. Renk chose to so enter as he had a perfect right to do. As the campaign progressed, Renk called upon Democratic friends to come into the Republican primary to support him. This idea was promoted further by former Governor Philip La Follette and other former Progressives who may still entertain a lingering hope of again capturing the machinery of the Republican party in Wisconsin. Governor Nelson refused to discourage this movement although he did not actively encourage it.

The Democratic and Republican parties are quite evenly divided in Wisconsin as indicated by recent elections. It might be assumed then that the total vote cast in each party in the primary would be approximately half of the total vote cast. However, the figures indicate quite clearly that approximately two-thirds of the total vote cast in the primary on Tuesday was for Republican candidates. The simple explanation and we think the correct one is that a great many Democratic sympathizers and supporters were voting for Renk in the Republican primary.

The remedy for this situation is a closed primary law. Under such a law all voters would be required to register before the primary by party. Democrats would register as Democrats, Republicans as Republicans and they would be required to vote for the candidates of those parties not only in the primary but also in the general election, unless of course the voter went to the trouble to change his registration. Such a law would result in stronger party organizations and would be a great help in establishing party responsibility.

While the Republicans are more apt to complain about Democrats entering their primary and thus frustrating their intention, the damage of such a crossover may actually be even more severe to the Democratic party. Patrick Lucey, Democratic state chairman, recognized this danger to his party and called upon Democrats to remain in their own primary. He knows that the small vote registered at the polls for Democratic candidates Tuesday is damaging to the party. Even some of those who left the Democratic party to play a little politics in the Republican primary may for some strange reason remain on the Republican column in the general election. Both parties should be interested in finding a way to provide better discipline and more responsible action in both parties.

Regional Planning Budget

The Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission has submitted a minimum necessary budget of $24,000 to continue its work next year.

The money would finance the hiring of a director, a planner and a secretary to form a professional staff for the Commission and to pay office expenses.

The commission's three-year contract with Kenneth L. Schellie and Associates expires this year. During this period Schellie and his employees have provided the staff for the commission and have developed the basic master plans for future development in the region.

Now the question is: Shall these plans be filed to gather dust or shall work be continued toward their implementation?

The question will be answered by the governing bodies of the 11 member municipalities each of whom must appropriate their share of the budget if the work is to continue.

Some people may ask why paid personnel will be needed in the future. At first glance it might seem possible that the commission's work could be continued by volunteers working with the municipalities concerned.

A full realization of the enormity of the job still to be done will rule out this possibility. In order for the master regional plans to be implemented, they must be adopted in present or amended form by the member communities. Appleton is the only community which has a professional planner, and even he cannot devote much time to future considerations.

The commission staff must work with officials of the member communities to relate the master plans to the particular needs of each community and get them into shape so that they can be enthusiastically adopted.

And as the region grows and develops, constant changes must be made in the master plans themselves.

The regional commission and its members have invested over $150,000 in the work done thus far. An investment of another $24,000 next year is prudent to keep the work moving.

Democrats Have Confidence in Polls

The Associated Press reports that Louis Harris & Associates have received $75,950 from the Democratic National Committee for taking the political pulse of the electorate and thus to determine Democratic political strategy in the Congressional elections this year.

The Democrats want to know in advance, if possible, whether or not to spend good money trying to oust Republicans or conservative Democratic incumbents. This is, of course, good business and there is nothing improper about it. It might be said to be a big boost for the pollsters generally.

However, while there are many people who believe that careful, accurate, well organized poll taking can determine with considerable accuracy the probable outcome of an election, there are few people who have much confidence in partisan poll taking. It has frequently been shown that polltakers can come up with the answer their employer requires if they wish to do so. Thus if a political party wished to get a favorable report on a certain Congressional district it would be a simple matter to employ an unscrupulous polltaker to bring in the answer desired. The answer of course would be useless as a guide to political action but might serve the purpose of starting a bandwagon movement for a certain candidate in that area.

Quite obviously the Democratic party leaders are seeking accurate information upon which to spend money and would therefore not be interested in a partisan poll. Thus the polltakers probably sought accurate answers. One result of a poll in New York state was that of launching Robert M. Morgenthau, son of Henry Morgenthau, secretary of the treasury under Franklin D. Roosevelt, as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor. It is said that Morgenthau led former Postmaster General James A. Farley by one percentage point. There was some interest in the fact that the poll showed Farley carrying only 60 per cent of the Catholic vote.

In San Diego, Calif., the poll showed that the chances of unseating Rep. Bob Wilson, Republican, were slim.

The polls may have been taken as carefully and accurately as possible but there can be no doubt that the pollsters were highly partisan and in fact actually working in the interest of the Democratic party. Whether or not they could in such circumstances bring in unbiased reports on the pulse of the voting public remains to be seen. As an indication of their partisanship, the pollsters offered advice on the arguments to pursue in the Ohio 14th District in a 19-page confidential study. The Congressional seat there is held by William H. Ayres, a Republican. The pollsters offered advice on how Oliver Ocasak, Ayres' Democratic opponent, might "pin Ayres to the mast on the Medicare issue." It will be interesting to see whether these hired pollsters were able to bring in an objective report on public sentiment or whether they were carried away with enthusiasm for the cause of their employer.

We Don't Need Fidel's Tobacco

Memo to Fidel Castro You thought we'd have to have your tobacco. Well, you're wrong. You thought we Americans would accept no substitutes. You'd been led to believe the quality leaf your folks produced could be produced no other place. Well, Americans are turning elsewhere and while the taste may not be as good as yours, we're getting by. You overlooked the fact that some of your Cuban know-how could be used here. It might interest you to know Cuban tobacco growers are now turning out a pretty fair leaf in northwest Florida. Also, you forgot we have a place called the Philippine Islands. Before World War II, Manila cigars were considered among the finest produced anywhere. In 1959 Philippines exported 196,000,000 cigars to the U.S. The war put a halt to the exports, but they're coming back now, thanks to you. In 1961 we took in 11,324,697. Further, we can bring in 170,000,000 duty-free under the terms of a trade act, and the Philippines are gearing to meet this quota. We don't have to have your tobacco, Fidel. We'll find a way just like we found a way during the war when the Commies cut off our rubber supply for tires. You have overlooked the fact that where Americans are concerned, they're going to ride and smoke, whether the mortgage is paid or not. End memo.

American Know-How Controls 'River of Sorrows' in India

BY RITCHIE CALDER Chicago Daily News Service MAITHON, Bihar, India—The Damodar was for countless generations known as the "River of Sorrows." In the Hindu traditions it is a "he" river—a river of violence. The more benevolent rivers (like the Ganges) are "she" rivers.

Its flash floods, increased by its tributaries, the Barakar and the Konar, would sweep down the 260 miles from Bihar to the gates of Calcutta, drowning the fertile lowlands in Bengal. In 1943, at a critical moment of the war, it "went over to the enemy" and, by its deep floods cut off rail and road communications between Calcutta and the military stockpiles further up the valley.

This at least compelled attention to the need for flood control, which had been discussed for a century. W. L. Voorduin, of the U. S. Tennessee Valley Authority, was asked to produce a similar multipurpose scheme for the Damodar.

SCHEME PUSHED After India was given its independence, the scheme was vigorously pushed. First, the Tilaia Dam was built at the furthermost end of the valley, on the Barakar tributary. And with this dam building went an extensive reforestation project to check erosion and the silting of this and other dams.

In this upland area were provided resettlement villages of new homes for some of the 22,000 families whose holdings were being submerged. They could either take money compensation or be moved, with their community, to newly recovered farmlands and modern homes in model villages, with new temples, schools, wells, and children's playgrounds. Most chose the new homes. At the same time, the largest high pressure steam power station was built at Bokaro. With assured water supplies from another dam on the Konar, it became possible to use on a massive scale the coal of the Damodar valley for electricity. Maithon, the third dam, is three quarters of a mile in length, with its crest 160 feet above the Barakar river. In addition to controlling the floods, it has a remarkable hydroelectric station, hewn out of solid rock, 200 feet underground. Its turbo-generators are housed in a cavern 80 feet high. The fourth dam is Panchet on the Damodar itself. This is the biggest of the storage dams, also with a hydroelectric station. MASTER OF THE WATERS Further down the river, 115 miles from Calcutta, is the master of the waters, the Durgapur Barrage. The others are holding dams. Durgapur regulates and releases the flow into a system of canals, which total 1,550 miles. The two main canals run on either side of the river. The tight bank canal, 17 feet wide at Durgapur, is also a navigation canal capable of handling 2,000,000 tons of traffic a year. It joins the Hooghly 35 miles above Calcutta. In 1958 a flood twice as great as the disastrous one of 1943 occurred, and was contained. In October, 1959, the worst-ever floods occurred. The dams checked them but there was inundation of the lower valley in the plains of Bengal. If there had been no dam system, the lives and livelihoods of 5,000,000 people would have been in hazard.

Car Owner Bears Biggest Tax Burden

From The Frederick (Wis.) Inter-County Leader "The art of plucking the goose to produce the largest amount of feathers with the least possible squawking," that's how King Louis XIV's finance minister described taxation almost 300 years ago. Tax collectors through the ages have been pretty plucky. The Romans collected a tax on togas, ancient Greece taxed doorways which opened out on public roads, England once taxed windows, and France levied a fireplace tax. Beards, wigs, funerals, even bachelors, have been taxed at one time or another. Most vulnerable tax target today? Possibly the American motorist. One out of every three dollars he spends for gasoline goes to the tax collector. Americans shell out $11 billion a year to own and operate a motor vehicle.

Fire Chief Praised for Trash Burning Statement

Editor, Post-Crescent Three cheers for Fire Chief Roland Kuehn! It's about time someone with authority spoke up because it doesn't seem to mean anything when a taxpayer beefs about the rusty, stinky trash burners. It isn't just drive ins who burn the garbage with trash, home owners do also. In the fall the wet leaves are burned and they smolder all night. Around our house some of the barrels smell so terrible it even chokes the children. Very healthful. I should think it would be cheaper to get an incinerator than have the fire trucks on wild goose chases because of trash burners. When people come to Appleton from out of town, they are not going to look at the beautiful store fronts and ride down the rest of the streets with their eyes shut that they don't see the dirty, rusty barrels. Neenah and Menasha saw what trouble and eye sores private trash burners are. Wake up Appleton and look around! A Taxpayer

Under the Capitol Dome

State Supreme Court 'Youngest' in Years; Liberals in Majority

BY JOHN WYNGAARD MADISON — Without even a line in the papers to announce the fact, the members of the Wisconsin State Supreme Court have convened for another annual session of reviewing appeals from the judgments of the trial courts of the state and such occasional original law-suits as they may choose to hear.

Wyngaard

This is the third "coordinate" branch of the state government which the school children of the state will hear about in their classes in this new school term, but which manages to carry on its duties with a quietness that is in sharp contrast to the noise and controversy attending legislative and executive office affairs, in a chamber that is rarely entered by the general public and bears more resemblance to a cloister than to a governmental headquarters.

Nor would there be any occasion for alluding to the court's new session here, except that there are some novel aspects of the tribunal just now.

A YOUNG COURT First, it is a "young" court, in terms of the length of services of its seven members. Once it was common for judges to serve a couple of decades. One late justice served on the bench for most of his adult lifetime.

The pension system enacted during the last decade changed all that. The legislature shrewdly tied the pension system to a compulsory retirement law, which was thereupon ratified by the electorate in a constitutional amendment without special resistance from the bench or the bar. Retirement is now mandatory at age 70. Since most judges don't reach this pinnacle of their profession until well into their middle years, long service on the court in the future is likely to be infrequent.

The average service on the state court today is something under six years. The average age of the judges is also younger than in previous periods, especially in this century. In the early dates of statehood very young judges were common — mostly because there were very few older lawyers around.

Dean of the court with about 13 years of tenure is Timothy Brown of Madison, who is now the chief justice by virtue of his seniority and who is presiding for his first full term as a result of the passing of Chief Justice Grover L. Broadfoot last spring. Ranking judge is George Currie of Sheboygan, who will succeed to the chief justice's seat after the retirement of Judge Brown in about two years.

POLITICAL BACKGROUND Perhaps more interesting about the present court is its altered political complexion — measured by the personal backgrounds of its members. For decades the court consisted of men of Republican and conservative backgrounds almost without exception.

Today there are three judges on this bench who rose to public prominence as Democratic politicians, and therefore can probably trace their judicial careers to their party service to some degree. Something of the changed political complexion of the state during the last half dozen years, moreover, can be deduced from the fact that two of the three were elected to the court in the first instance — something that is comparatively rare in its history. The overwhelming majority of the judges who have served on this tribunal came to it by gubernatorial appointment.

The nature of the cases coming before the court rarely provides a test of "liberal" and "conservative" ideological attitudes, unlike the operations of the United States Supreme Court in recent times. Yet it is perhaps a footnote worthy of notice that the three court members who have Democratic backgrounds are sitting with a colleague who formerly espoused liberal Republican ideas as a member of the late Progressive party, and that they could join to constitute a majority against the three associates who came from Republican environments if the occasion arose.

Swatting Parking Meters Doesn't Pay

WICHITA (AP) — Don't swat the meter. City Traffic engineer Paul Graves says, "We have more trouble with parking meters caused by persons using slugs or placing a coin in the meter and then hitting it to try to get more time. "The funny thing about it is that most of the time they get less time."

Looking Backward

Motor's Answer to Crescent

100 YEARS AGO Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Sept. 18, 1862.

The Crescent is pleased to consider our candidate for Congress (E. L. Browne of Waupaca) "a harmless nuisance — a mere bag of wind." It accuses him of "political harlotry, bigoted fanaticism and squish-headed talents," and calls him "a muddy-headed lilliputian."

It considers A. B. Jackson, Judge Cotton, George H. Myers and others who did not get nominated "the best men" in the party. But if any had been nominated the case would have been altered in its columns.

Who does not remember the abuse which it has always delighted to visit upon Mr. Jackson and Mr. Myers, especially when it thought them likely to gain a nomination or an election?

Why the ink is hardly dry of some of it! What a full-orbed half-moon it is, to be sure!

We venture the prediction, that if any prominent Barstow politician of the worst days of that unprincipled faction, receives the Democratic nomination, that sheet will be ready to besilver both him and it with its disgusting praises and be on hand with all the manufactured enthusiasm for which it can find a market.

What kind of human credulity can its readers be made of?

P. S. — Since the above was in type, we learn that Hon. John Fitzgerald of Oshkosh, a prominent supporter of Barstowism in its palmy days, has received the Democratic nomination. Look out for the Crescent's fulsome toadying, nauseating, impossible praises.

Senate Okays Negro Judge

Civil Rights Leader Named to Court After Fight by Southerners

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has voted 54 to 16 to confirm Thurgood Marshall as a judge on the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals after Southerners fired a final fusillade in opposition to the Negro lawyer's appointment. At his New York apartment, where his family gathered to celebrate the action, Marshall said: "I appreciate the nomination by President Kennedy and the confirmation by the Senate. I will do my level best to live up to their expectations." The vote Tuesday came after five hours of debate and weeks of hearings on his qualifications.

for the second highest level judicial post in the land. Southern Democrats Thirty Democrats and 24 Republicans voted to approve the confirmation. The 16 nays were cast by Southern Democrats from nine states opposing civil rights legislation. Two Southerners were absent—Sens. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and George A. Smathers, D-Fla. The Dixie group charged that Marshall, former counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, lacked legal experience outside the field of civil rights. Marshall successfully prosecuted the NAACP's case against school segregation before the Supreme Court. "Narrow Field" One leader of the opposition, Sen. Olin D. Johnston, D-S.C., said Marshall has practiced law for "many, many years, in but one narrow field of civil rights." Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich.,

Police Expect To Make Arrests In Soblen Case

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard's investigation of how fugitive spy Robert A. Soblen got his final dose of drugs was reported near an end today. Detectives said they hope to bring charges soon. Soblen died in a British hospital five days after taking an overdose of barbiturates to prevent his deportation to serve a life sentence in the United States. Doctors said the drugs started a series of complications that led to death from exhaustion for the 61-year-old New York psychiatrist. He had been unconscious since the overdose knocked him out in an ambulance on the way from Brixton Prison to an airliner bound for New York. Scotland Yard was called in after it was determined the drug was not of a type stocked at the prison. An inquest begins Thursday. An autopsy report will be given. A U.S. Embassy spokesman said disposition of the body is up to Soblen's wife, Dina Soblen, who was being treated for shock at Hillingdon Hospital where he died.

Kuehn Supporters Relieved After Candidate Beats Renk

Republicans Confident They Can Capture Statehouse in November

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Philip Kuehn's triumph over a determined challenger last spring. Such signs of longer in the Republican gubernatorial primary election Tuesday shows a momentum that will carry the Republicans to a recapture of the state government which they lost in the Democratic upsurge of 1958 as most of the party leaders lead the primary election returns.

The Kuehn campaign headquarters camp is obviously happy and deeply relieved. There were times during the last fortnight when some of the Kuehn managers were privately fearful of the increasing impact of the campaign of Wilbur Renk of Sun Prairie who delivered the strongest challenge to the Republican organization's endorsement practice in the last 14 years.

That the painful wounds of the primary battle can be healed, Republicans feel is shown by the graceful capitulation statement following the balloting results.

Kuehn benefitted during the primary fight from the same kind of cordiality shown toward him by Lt. Gov. Warren P. Knowles later to Kuehn in a bitterly fought

1963 Model of Compact Olds Grows 4 Inches

Firm Follows Trend To Fancier Cars, Cuts Some of Line

BY DICK GRIFFIN
Chicago Daily News Service

LANSING, Mich. — The Olds mobile F-85 has grown four inches since last year, but it's still well within the super compact class.

Reflecting a trend to bigger and fancier compacts the 1963 model will also offer fewer models in its economy price class. The F-85 will be offered in seven models compared with nine in 1962.

Gone are the three seat station wagon and the convertible that were available in 1962's lowest priced F-85 class.

Half From Outlass

Jack F. Wolfram, General Motors vice president and Oldsmobile general manager, said half of all F-85 sales in the 1962 model came from the top priced Outlass line which comprises just two models.

In the standard size line of medium priced Olds, the top priced 98 series has been expanded to include a new four-door sedan and a two-door hardtop. The '98 Holiday four-door hardtop has been dropped.

Styling of the two lines is clearly still Oldsmobile, though many changes have been made notably in the roof line profile of the rear fenders and grilles.

On Sale Oct. 4

As with the 1963 Buick and Chevrolet lines, all new Oldsmobiles will use alternators, all featuring current generators in place of the conventional generator. The alternator permits idling of the engine even with all accessories operating without draining the battery.

The new line of cars will go on sale Oct. 4. Prices will be disclosed shortly before then.

Over all length of the F-85 will be 192 inches, same as the new Buick special which also was stretched four inches.

Wolfram told newsmen at Oldsmobile press preview here that the GM division expects to sell 425,000 cars in calendar 1962 and do equally well or maybe better in 1963. Of the 1962 total 21 to 22 per cent are F-85s.

The preview was held at a new multimillion dollar engine and Sturgeon Bay, Green Bay, Kaukauna, Little Chute, Appleton factories here.

Ford Thunderbird To get Competition From New Riviera

FLINT, Mich. — Buick plans some sleepless nights for the Ford people.

After seven years without direct competition the Ford Thunderbird will get it in 1963 from the four passenger Buick Riviera with a Thunderbird-like price tag.

The high powered, high-priced Riviera will be just one of four types and sizes of cars the people of this Buick oriented town hope will set the auto world on fire.

The others are the king size compact special line which has been stretched nearly four inches from 1962 dimensions to 192 inches the LeSabre Invicta and Wildcat lines of standard-size Buicks at 215½ inches and the big 221½ inch long Electra 225 series.

The Wildcat a new separate battery series is something of a spinoff of models from the Invicta line. The Special series is longer than 1962's but narrower and lower by an inch. Styling of all lines is essentially the same as to newsmen here Tuesday at a this year's though with higher press preview.

Lower IQ Ratio May Require Colony Changes

Staff Adjustments
May be Forced at Mental Hospital

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — A declining intelligence ratio of current admissions to the state colony for the mentally defective at Chippewa Falls will ultimately require significant adjustments in program, plant and personnel, the state board of public welfare was warned in the annual report of the managers of the state's biggest hospital of its kind.

An increasing dependency of the patients at the 65-year-old institution has been the most important change in the admissions picture there, besides the chronic overcrowding of the institution, said Supt. A. C. Nelson in his report.

About 75 per cent of the population now has an intelligence quotient of 50 or below, and 42 per cent are at 30 or below, it was shown. Moreover, about 45 per cent of the patients have serious physical handicaps and a considerable number need special care and treatment because of emotional disturbances, he said.

Nelson appealed for relief of the crowding at his institution which is rated at a capacity of less than 1,000 but which in mid-summer had about 1,600 patients not counting nearly 300 on vacation, conditional leave, family care, or unauthorized absence who could return at any time. There is also a substantial waiting list of patients committed but not yet received.

He said there is inadequate housing for the totally dependent patients for disturbed female patients and for those needing medical care.

He reported that staffing conditions have improved for non-professional categories but that shortages of professional workers continue. A major building need, he said, is a new 500-bed infirmary unit for the care of the most seriously handicapped and limited of the patients.

The Chippewa Falls institution usually receives commitment from the northern districts of the state, including those of the Fox River Valley. Two similar institutions are at Union Grove, Racine County, and Madison.

No One Is Safe From Schemes of Crooks Using Mail to Defraud

BY J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some mail fraud crooks are vicious in small ways. They'd cheat a crippled shut-in or a poor widow. Some are extortionists who would fake a nude photograph to make it appear that a young woman posed obscenely. Some of the cheat-by-mail promoters are big operators, out to defraud ordinarily hard-headed businessmen.

"The variety of mail fraud promotions is without limit," says Henry B. Montague, chief postal inspector.

The number, as well as the variety, of frauds has reached new peaks. So have convictions, engineered by Montague's inspectors, at least in its now wide-spread scope.

Department's criminal division and U.S. attorneys across the country.

In the last fiscal year there were 524 convictions for mail fraud, a record. Jail sentences of varying length and fines totaling $347,000 were imposed. Investigations resulted in the restitution of $1,414,000 to victims.

Montague, 50, a quiet but authoritative sort of man who began his career as a postal clerk in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., talked to a reporter about new and old trends in mail fraud.

Take first the advance fee racket under which, Montague motor are to bring the victim's said, millions of dollars have been fleeced from businessmen. It is new, at least in its now wide-spread scope.

Montague pulled out one of his official reports to explain how it works.

"Criminals operating across state lines attempt to induce the owners of small businesses to sell their businesses or real estate, or to secure business loans," he said.

"The victim is required to pay an advance fee as evidence of good faith. Oral assurances are given that the fee would be returned if the desired services are rendered.

"The signed contract, however, reveals in fine print that the only services provided by the promoter are to bring the victim's needs to the attention of various institutions."

North American Associates, Inc., in Denver, he figured, collected more than $2 million from 2,000 businessmen this way.

Another scheme that has slipped into widespread operation is based on imitating very closely the names of reputable business firms.

A crook adopts a firm name resembling that of a well-known company. Sometimes he spells it just a little differently; sometimes he simply uses "Corp." in the title, instead of the usual "Co."

Then he orders merchandise on credit from wholesale houses or elsewhere. Clerks in the supplying firms are deceived by the name on the letterhead or order form and ship the goods without question. The crook sells the merchandise in a hurry and disappears.

To possible future targets of these schemes, Montague suggests: "Have some knowledge of the people you are doing business with."

Parents Can Help Students

Showing Interest In Current Topics Sets Good Example

Parents concerned about helping their children with studies as the new school year opens can play an important role in keeping them informed of current events, teachers say.

As a public service, the Appleton Post-Crescent is furnishing current events materials in 13 Fox Cities area schools. The material consists of VEC News Film Strip Program and VEG Study filmstrips which relate to current topics and can be used by teachers for class discussion.

Here are some tips for parents:

One. Be interested in current events yourself.

Two. Make an effort to discuss current events each evening at home and encourage your children to take part.

Three. Keep plenty of current reading materials handy at home. Daily newspapers, magazines and books are a storehouse of information which your child must learn to use.

Four. Keep informed as to your child's progress in school and show that you are interested.

Five. As much as possible take

Vocational Schools in Area May Organize Circuit Class

Directors of 11 northeastern Mich. former head of the engineering shops and laboratories at schools will meet to consider the possibility of organizing a circuit program for trade extension instruction in hydraulics and pneumatics at the Appleton Vocational School Friday morning.

The meeting was called by Howard Heigl, Madison state occupational extension coordinator. There is a possibility the schools could get Frank I. Mackin, Flint part in community affairs. Give your children a good example of citizenship by voting, discussing political issues and keeping informed of local, state and national affairs.

Six. To help parents and students keep abreast of current events together, the Post-Crescent publishes a weekly news quiz. This informative quiz for the family will refresh your memory of the news, furnish family discussion topics and serve as reference material for school work.

No Such Thing as Unbiased Justice

Supreme Court Jurists Human Beings With Definite Views

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Can a Supreme Court justice be unprejudiced? That's a nice ideal but it's hardly human.

The ideal was expressed again this week by Arthur J. Goldberg, former secretary of labor who was named to the court by President Kennedy and awaits Senate approval.

He told a Senate committee "I would regard it as my first major task as a justice to be on guard lest my prejudices and predilections are erected into legal principles."

Declines Pension

Goldberg had been a labor lawyer most of his life but severed all connections with unions even to the point of declining a pension when he became secretary.

A justice faces "no more serious task" than to put aside personal views, even those felt deeply or expressed strongly in the past, he said.

But a justice being a human being must have toward life and living a number of definite views which are the product of his parental background, environment, education, association and experience.

Have "Correct" View

Presidents for instance don't pick justices without knowing something of their views. To do otherwise might mean picking a cause he tried to argue that way.

Presidents Washington and Adams picked none but fellow Federalists. Presidents Jackson and Andrew Jackson picked none but fellow Democrats. President Lincoln picked none but fellow Republicans. President Roosevelt picked none but fellow Democrats.

Not Citizens

That neither a slave nor his descendants are citizens under the Constitution and therefore are not entitled to the protection and benefits of citizens. This decision enlarged slavery and helped bring on the Civil War.

The free legal decision was in which a justice humanizes him self by using some discretion in applying the law. To put it another way he is not entirely bound by legalisms.

The psychological or human way—which means no justice can entirely divest himself of views and attitudes accumulated over a lifetime.

The mechanical theory was propounded by Justice David J. Brewer who died in 1910, and Chief Justice Roger Brooke Taney who died in 1864.

Meaning Unchangeable

Brewer thought the "meaning of the Constitution" does not alter. The only trouble with that is that each justice after all must decide for himself what the Constitution means.

Taney said the Constitution had increased in his day as something of their views. To do it had from the beginning. Be otherwise might mean picking a cause he tried to argue that way.

This was the case of Dred Scott, a Negro slave, in 1857. His free-lance status was at stake. The court ruled against him with this reasoning: "The Constitution was not made for him."

That neither a slave nor his descendants are citizens under the Constitution and therefore are not entitled to the protection and benefits of citizens. This decision enlarged slavery and helped bring on the Civil War.

The verdict 7-2 against Scott had interesting overtones. Five of the seven—including Taney—who voted against Scott were Southerners and slave holders.

Kennedy Will Answer Cuban Threat Tonight

President was more concerned with the Berlin situation than with the communist flow of supplies and men to Cuba.

But it has been Cuba—and Soviet threats over the communist outpost that has attracted most of the fire in Congress.

Wednesday Secretary of State Dean Rusk assured a joint session of the House Foreign Affairs and Armed Services committees that the administration would not tolerate having Cuba become a base for offensive action against the United States or any western hemisphere area.

GOP Complaints

This appeared to be directed against Republican complaints that the administration has not been tough enough about the Cuban buildup.

However, Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., offered an amendment to the reserve bill authorizing the President to use troops against any communist aggression in any area of the world.

Prouty offered his proposal after other Republicans moved to back on pledges for action on Cuba.

One by Sen. Jack R. Miller, R-Iowa, would direct the President to enforce the Monroe Doctrine against the communist regime of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

"Obligation"

Another by Sen. Prescott Bush, R-Conn., would express the sense of Congress that the United States has the right and obligation to end Red domination of Cuba, either with or without the cooperation of other western hemisphere nations.

Meanwhile, Edwin M. Martin, assistant secretary of state for Latin American affairs, was quoted as saying, "Cuba is a military threat to the United States or any other Latin American country."

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., at his space budget proposal for 1963-64, he has said that space expenditures are bound to rise $4 million on the Cuban situation above the current budget of $4 million.

Huntsville, Ala., and Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Those were his occasions to speak. The rest of the time he spent listening to seldom comment to government and industry rocketry specialists.

Kennedy not only received their analyses and advice but got the feel of how it is to ride a space capsule by climbing into a three-man Apollo model at the Houston center with astronaut Donald (Deke) Slavin.

The purpose of Kennedy's survey was to familiarize himself with operations in the space program and to gather fundamental information in advance of preparing his space budget proposal for 1963-64.

Girl Found in River Identified

Child a Daughter of Former Minnesota Mental Patient

ALMA, Wis. (AP) — A body found in a Mississippi River slough has been identified as that of a six-year-old girl whose sister and mother, a former mental patient, are missing.

The car driven by the mother, a widow, was found Wednesday about three miles from where the girl's body was discovered by fishermen on Tuesday. A search for the mother and second daughter continued.

Buffalo County Dist. Atty. Paul Motley said the girl who had drowned was identified as Pamela Olson, daughter of Mrs. Hazel Olson, 48, of Rochester, Minn.

Motley said the identification was made by Mrs. Elaine Morse of Rochester, a friend of Mrs. Olson. The district attorney said that Mrs. Olson, whose husband died about a year ago, was released from a Minnesota mental hospital two months ago.

Motley said that Mrs. Morse related that Mrs. Olson took her daughters, Pamela and Susan, 7, from a Rochester school last Wednesday and left in the family car. The car was found parked in a wooded area about six miles north of here near the Mississippi River bridge at Wabasha, Minn.

Navy Plane Crash Kills 9 Crewmen

SEAL BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A Navy P2V Neptune patrol bomber skidded over rooftops of a heavily populated residential area Wednesday night then crashed in flames at the naval ammunition depot here. The Navy said all nine aboard were killed.

The dead were reservists from Georgia, the Navy said. Identification was withheld pending notification of relatives.

The plane took off from Los Alamitos Naval Air Station about three miles north of the depot and crashed a short time later in a vacant field used for storing empty ammunition crates some distance from ammunition depots.

Several witnesses said they saw the plane trailing a long ribbon of flame veer to the northeast in what appeared to be an attempt by the pilot to keep aloft until the bomber cleared the residential area.

The depot at Seal Beach, 28 miles southeast of Los Angeles, replenishes the fleet stationed at Southern California bases of San Diego and Long Beach. The ammunition is kept underground.

Use Cleansing Chemical Scientists Find Lead To Victory Over Smog

BY FRANK CAREY

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A possible lead towards victory over "smog" by introducing a cleansing chemical into the atmosphere of smog-plagued cities was reported today.

A team of Lockheed research workers said they had achieved a breakthrough in the laboratory experiments — in the use of iodine as a chain breaker of the molecular structure of the smog.

The three-decade history of chain producing the irritant an iodine production in a California mixture that hydrocarbons, certain chemical plant lists no toxic effects such as Los Angeles.

They stressed in a report for the 142nd national meeting of the American Chemical Society that the findings — resulting from a three-year study — represent only the results of relatively small laboratory tests.

Questions Remain

They added that a number of questions still remain to be answered before determination can be made whether the iodine method can be employed in solving air pollution problems on a practical basis.

Lockheed's Dr. William P. Hamilton who presented the report for the team said the big question to be answered is whether there would be poisonous effects to human and other life from curv lamps were used to supply the reaction products resulting the radiation required to produce iodine.

Student Saved By Firemen From Burning Bedroom

MADISON (AP) — A University of Wisconsin student from Cudahy was rescued by firemen this morning when he was trapped in his third floor bedroom that was swept by fire. Seven other persons fled to safety.

The student, Robin Collette, suffered facial burns and was unconscious from smoke inhalation when he was removed to University Hospitals.

Collette had rented the attic bedroom only Wednesday. About 5 a.m. today his screams awakened Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Endres and their five children, the other occupants of the house, who got out safely.

Endres attempted to reach the third floor exit but was turned back by smoke and flames. Firemen found Collette huddled in the corner of a room adjoining his own.

smog from hydrocarbon chemicals such as automobile exhaust fumes in the atmosphere.

Hamilton said the presence of less than ten parts iodine per 100 million parts of smog polluted air test samples caused almost total suppression of ozone.

He declared the next steps in the research will be to study the effects of laboratory animals — and conduct tests in a large outdoor area, such as a football stadium.

Bays Won't Take Improved Minnesota Vikings Lightly

Max McGee Returns to Active Duty

BY ART DALEY
Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — The Vikings are the most successful new team in modern pro football.

They were born in 1961, and as infants won three games. By comparison, the Dallas Cowboys were born in 1960 and they won nothing.

What's more, the Vikings never lost an opener. There's a catch to that of course, (they only played one), but it serves as a big fat warning to the Packers. The Minnesota Vikings whipped the Bears in the 1961 opener.

The Bears undoubtedly took the Vikings lightly. Minnesota apparently has grown into manhood overnight and the Packers would be foolhardy to take the same attitude into Sunday's game at City Stadium.

The Vikings are going into the 1962 opener on the fly. They lost three toughes to start the pre-season drive. 30-24 to the 49ers, 33-24 to the Rams and 24-21 to the Cardinals and then sharpened up by whipping the Colts, 24-13, and the Cowboys, 45-26.

Wally Cruise, the Packers' chief scout who has been studying the Vikings the last few games, feels the Vikings have improved "a good 30 per cent over a year ago."

Actually, Cruise appeared concerned when he visited the Packers the other day. "There's no fooling about the Vikings. We had trouble with them last year and they're a much, much better team now," he said. With a clean pre-season slate under their belts, the Packers could easily go into the Viking game with perhaps less "fear" than if they were playing the Bears or Lions.

Respects Every Foe
Lombardi respects every opponent in the league, and he's approaching Sunday's game with much concern. The Packers have been praised as the greatest this and the greatest that since last Dec. 31. Thus, they are becoming ripe for a fall.

Lombardi sees no mystery about

NOTES and NOTIONS

Since successful football forecasting is 10 per cent logic and 90 per cent luck, I've smothered my crystal ball with 4-leaf clovers this year. "Notes and Notions" will need all the help it can get because after last year's 80.3 per cent accuracy rate, the only "open" direction seems to be down. Anyway, fasten your seat belts for a dizzying (and maybe dizzy) trip down guess-oline alley.

Packers over Minnesota — Though the improved Vikings are capable of giving the Vince Lombardi-charged Packers a busy afternoon, I detect no omens to indicate any upset lightning such as felled the Bears in the '61 opener. The Packers have been pointing for their NFL campaign for two months, and fans Sunday may see a team more than a little reminiscent of the one that mauled the Giants last December. The Bays have lost their last two season openers, and Lombardi would like to put a quick halt to that kind of nonsense.

Appleton over Menasha — There is little in the way of tangibles for comparing the two untried teams this year, but the intangible called "tradition" points to the Terrers in a close struggle.

Xavier over Pacelli — The Hawks' opener at Escanaba produced more than a suspicion that another powerhouse is being constructed on Prospect Avenue. Xavier will also seek to make a good impression in its '62 home debut.

Kaukauna over Sheboygan North — The Ghosts, like Xavier, have a sizable winning streak to preserve. Though they haven't played a game as yet, the Ghosts appear to have the raw materials for another strong gridiron entry.

Neenah over Fond du Lac — It will be a major surprise if the Rockets aren't again one of Fox Cities area's most powerful teams.

Kimberly over St. John — On a hunch, we believe the Papermakers are due to reverse the trend in this series. It promises to be a slam-bang type of game capable of going either way.

Wisconsin Rapids Assumption over St. Mary — Though the Zephyrs figure to be improved this season, they may find the early going a little rough without their No. 1 quarterback and against a team which already has played once.

New Holstein over Clintonville — The Huskies have already turned in a one-sided victory, and at this stage of the season, probably appear a little stronger than the Truckers who will be on the upgrade after a winless '61 conference season.

Mosinee over New London — The Bulldogs have lost heavily from last year's high-grade team and will be hard-pressed in their effort to avenge last year's 1-point loss to Mosinee.

Other Games — Denmark over Shiocton, Winnebago over Hilbert, Freedom over Wrightstown, Omro over Reedsville, Wittenberg over Bonduel, Manawa over Marion, Waupaca over Stevens Point, Weyauwega over Iola-Scandinavia, Chilton over Kiel, Sheboygan Falls over Brillion.

Dodgers Edge Colts, Add Game to Lead

Mays, Jay Forced Out Of Action

BY JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Los Angeles Dodgers won their game.

The San Francisco Giants lost their game—and Willie Mays. The Cincinnati Reds won their game—but lost Joey Jay. And that combination of events may provide the Dodgers the opening for a break through in the tension-filled National League race.

A home run by Frank Howard and the tight relief pitching of unbeaten Ed Roebuck and Ron Peranoski lifted the Dodgers to a 1-0 victory over Houston Wednesday night and into a 1 1/2 game lead over runner-up San Francisco. The Giants were 4-1 losers to the third-place Reds, still 5 1/2 behind, as Frank Robinson powered the way for the winners with two homers.

Mays and Jay were casualties in the key struggle at Cincinnati, and any extended layoff by either of these star performers could doom the title chances of his club. Mays, the majors' top home run hitter with 43 and the Giants' leader in their pennant drive, collapsed of what was described as an attack of indigestion in the third inning. The brilliant center fielder was unconscious when he was carried off the field but came to before being taken to the hospital.

Jay, a 21-game winning right-

Yankees Score 5-2 Win Over Indians, Reduce Magic Number to 10

Angels, Twins Lose; Cheney Breaks Record With 21 Whiffs in 16 Innings

BY MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

With that American League pennant scramble reaching its climax, the least likely team you'd expect to hear from would be Washington, but a 21-strikeout salute by Senators' pitcher Tom Cheney has grabbed the spotlight from the battling contenders. Cheney, a 27-year-old right-hander who has labored sporadically and unspectacularly in five previous major league campaigns, sent up his salute Wednesday night by striking out 21 batters in 16 innings for an all-time major league one-game record en route to a 2-1 victory over Baltimore. Meanwhile it began to look like taps-blowing time for New York's pursuers in the pennant race. The Yankees ballooned their huge as Mickey Mantle hit a three-run homer and powered the defending world champions to a 5-2 decision over Cleveland.

The second-place Los Angeles Angels lost to Kansas City 4-1 and fell five games back while third-place Minnesota bowed to the Chicago White Sox 2-1 in 12 innings and dropped 5 1/2 lengths off the pace.

Boston Takes 2
That left the Yanks' magic pennant-clinching number at 10. Any combination of 10 New York victories and/or Los Angeles defeats will give the Yankees their 12th pennant in the last 14 years.

In the other AL games, Boston swept a doubleheader from Detroit 8-6 and 6-2.

Cheney, a slender 6-foot-2 hurler who started out in the St. Louis system, struck out the side in the third and fifth innings, wound up nine innings with 13 strikeouts, then continued his streak in extra-innings as the Orioles reached the night—and length—of futility.

Cheney's performance topped the all-time mark of 19, set back in 1884 by Charles Sweeney of Providence in the National League and Hugh Dailey of Chicago in the Union Association. It also betters the modern standard of 18 accomplished six times by four different pitchers.

Ford Triumphs

Cheney brought his record to 6-8 when Bud Zupfel homered off Dick Hall (6-6) for the game-winner in the 16th. The Georgia-born pitcher, who came to the Senators from Pittsburgh in a trade for Tom Sturdivant, had a 3-7 record in a major league career that began in 1957 before getting his chance at Washington.

Mantle's homer off Pedro Ramos put the Yankees ahead 4-2 in the fifth inning after the Indians had moved out front on Chuck Essegian's two-run homer in the

Hawks Will Meet Pacelli Friday in Home Grid Opener

Xavier Seeks To Extend Win Streak

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Riding a string of 14 straight victories, the Xavier High School Hawks will open their home football season at 8 p.m. Friday at Goodland Field against Pacelli of Stevens Point.

Xavier opened the campaign last Sunday with an impressive 28-0 win over Holy Name High at Escanaba, Mich. The defense played a particularly outstanding game and did not allow the opposition to cross the mid-field stripe.

Coach Gene "Torchy" Clark said the Hawks came out of the Holy Name game in good physical condition, and he expects the entire squad to be ready for the Pacelli tilt.

Last year, the Hawks rolled up a 34-0 victory over Pacelli with a pounding ground attack that picked up 275 yards and 15 first downs.

Much Stronger
Clark figures this year's Pacelli unit will be much stronger since the team was rebuilding last year and a majority of the players are back again.

Pacelli has played one game and dropped a 19-6 decision to strong La Crosse Aquinas after holding the highly-rated Bluegolds to a 6-6 tie until the last five minutes of the game. Senior Ron Kutella paced Pacelli with a 51-yard average on 15 carries in the game. The lone touchdown for the Cardinals came on a 29-yard scamper by sophomore halfback Dan Houlahan.

Clark said the Xavier defense played an outstanding game against the Escanaba school Sunday but was quick to point out

Aerial Defense Polished by Foxes

FVL Duels Gibraltar Friday

BY RALPH MUELLER

Pass defense has been the order of business in the camp of the Fox Valley Lutheran High School football team this week.

Coach Dave Umms' Foxes will meet their second opponent of the season Friday afternoon, at 1:30 p.m., when they face Gibraltar at Fish Creek. The Vikings feature 3-year veteran quarterback Dick Staber who reportedly throws pretty well.

The Foxes have spent the most part of three drills concentrating on pass defense this week. Coach Umms says the unit is "shaping up pretty well." He added, "The boys have worked very hard."

Tongue Injury
Bruce Lidge who suffered a tongue injury earlier this week, will probably be ready for Friday's game. However, Larry Gorges has been suffering from a cold and is not expected to make the trip.

Reserve quarterback Lee Kiepkie has not been in school and is the probable starter.

Lightning Hits, Streets Flooded In Green Bay

No Injuries Reported In Storm; but Power Fails at Some Plants

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — Torrents of rain flooded streets in scattered parts of Green Bay this morning while bolts of lightning struck in several places, one of them knocking down the chimney of the Duck Creek School, and another cutting electrical power to two local paper mills.

No injuries were reported when the lightning crashed into the brick chimney of the school on Idlewild Street in Howard, but the roof was cracked causing leakage. The bolt struck about 9 a.m. About the same time, the Wisconsin Public Service Corp. substation on S. Quincy Street short-circuited cutting power affecting production at Green Bay Packaging Co. and Charming Paper Products Co. The outage occurred shortly after 9 a.m. and lasted almost until noon. Northern Paper Mills located in the same vicinity was not affected.

Residents in the 800 block of Mather Street reported that a bolt of lightning struck the road gouging a hole four inches in diameter and two feet deep. Other than the power failure on the city's northeast side, a public service official reported "surprisingly few" reports of power outages.

The black clouds which rolled in from the southwest early this morning opened up about 8:30 and dropped over 38 of an inch of rain during the next two hours. Streetlights in many parts of Green Bay were turned on as evening-like darkness shrouded the area for an hour.

The weatherman says skies will remain partly cloudy and there will be occasional showers and thunderstorms the rest of the day, but ending tonight with a drop in the temperature.

A violent thunderstorm struck Bear Creek between 8 and 8:30 a.m. today leaving in its wake dead cattle, a barn blown off its foundation and roads flooded.

The storm blew a 14 by 18 foot quonset cattle shed off its foundation, over a fence and into a corn field 100 feet away on the Frank Schertz farm, 4 1/2 miles north west of Bear Creek.

Lightning struck and killed two 2-year-old Holstein heifers on the farm of Clifford Flanagan on County Trunk D 1 1/4 miles southeast of the village.

Lines Down
Telephone lines are down in one area of the town. Hail the size of marbles was reported. One farmer said his rain gauge showed 3 1/2 inches had fallen in about a half hour.

State 76 at a bend near the Embarras River, a spot often flooded in spring had as much water standing on it after the rain as is normal in April. Creeks overflowed their banks and washed out roads in several areas.

The storm also hit Marion earlier in the morning with no damage reported. It was reported moving east through Seymour and Greer Bay.

According to the Associated Press, thunderstorms broke out ahead of a cold front moving slowly from the northwest to the southeast through Wisconsin Wednesday night and early today.

Largest amount of rain up to 7 a.m. was 77 of an inch in the Park Falls area. Wausau had 42, Lone Rock 32 and Eau Claire 67.

Ahead of Cold
Dubuque, Iowa near the southwestern corner of Wisconsin had 95 of an inch.

Warm and very humid weather prevailed in most of Wisconsin Wednesday. Racine hit the state high of 91. Beloit had 90, Milwaukee and Madison 87, Lone Rock 82, La Crosse 84, Green Bay 83, Eau Claire 75, Wausau 74 and Superior 77 and Park Falls 76.

Louis C. Heintz, Oshkosh, who died Jan. 17, left an estate of $147,445, according to the determination of taxes filed Wednesday. Three nephews and a niece each receive $18,937. The rest of the estate is divided among 11 other legatees.

Federal estate tax amounted to $14,904 and state inheritance tax totaled $7,716.

The inventory of the Anna M. Gardner estate, Oshkosh, also was filed Wednesday, with a value of $67,224. She died April 15. The estate consists of $14,000 in real estate, $10,000 in insurance and the remainder in personal property.

She was survived by a son and a daughter.

Car Reported Stolen Found by Owner in Lot

A car which had been reported taken Sunday night from an alley in the 600 block of W. College Avenue was found damaged Monday morning at a Spencer Street industrial parking lot, by its owner who had reported the loss.

Rollin Kleist, Medina, reported that the tire of his car was flat and the fender was damaged. Kleist said also that about one-half tank of gas was missing.

The car was inspected by police for fingerprints Monday morning. Kleist told police he recognized the car when he saw it parked in the lot after he had reported it stolen.

The area conferences are financed through Children's Bureau funds.

Window Peeper Asks to Join Couple Watching TV Show

An Appleton couple watching television Wednesday night reported to police that a man pulled a saw horse to an open window, climbed up and asked the couple if he could join them.

The couple said the man then jumped down from the window and ran through several vacant lots and was gone. The incident occurred about 10:10 p.m., police said.

Bids Received Today for OSC Science Building

Ganther Construction Co. Low With $949,838; Expect $2,156,000 Cost

MADISON — The Board of Regents of State Colleges today received low bids for the construction of a new science building on the campus of Oshkosh State College which is expected to cost $2,156,000.

Regents were expected to approve later today a series of contracts, including the low bid of the Ben Ganther Co. of Oshkosh for the general construction work at $949,838.

The low bid for heating and ventilating work was $209,500 from August Winter and Sons, Appleton, but the selection of the firm may affect the heating contractor award. Close behind the Ganther firm's bid was a bid of $209,879 by the E. C. Merrill Williams Co., Oshkosh.

One Electrical Bid
D-K Electric Co., Oshkosh, submitted the only electrical bid at $235,517.

A total of $2,156,000 is budgeted for the project, with this figure including construction contracts, architects' fees, movable equipment, land acquisition, contingency fund and bureau of engineering fees.

Bids opened today for construction, extension of utilities and equipment came to $1,870,622, while the construction budget called for expenses of $1,815,000. With selection of alternates and unit prices on laboratory equipment, college officials hope to reduce costs to the $1,815,000 figure.

Reflects Enrollment Rise
The new building represents a major expansion program reflecting heavily increased enrollments at Oshkosh during recent years and expected during the next decade. The building will have an unusual architectural design featuring a tall tower which will house laboratories and first floor wings to provide classroom space. A planetarium will be built on an adjacent site as a part of the science building construction project.

The completion date being aimed for is Nov. 15, 1963. Letters to low bidders are expected to go out early next week, according to the firm of Sanstedt, Knoop and Yarnall.

Plans include two sisters and four wings to provide classroom space. A planetarium will be built on an adjacent site as a part of the science building construction project.

Funeral services will be at 1:30 p.m. Monday at Seefeld Funeral Home, Oshkosh. Burial will be in Rienzi Cemetery, Fond du Lac.

Let's Keep 'Em Flying

Flags May be Vanishing But Welcome Mat Is Out

Appleton's welcome flags, used as a colorful way to say "hello" to convention groups and special delegations visiting the city, are involved in a disappearing act.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell observed recently the flags were disappearing and asked the Appleton Downtown Retail Association to take inventory.

The welcoming flags are purchased by the association and then turned over to the city, which has municipal crews erect them when a big pow-wow is underway.

A hurried inventory by Giles R. Flanagan, the association's executive secretary, disclosed that of 72 flags purchased in 1960, there now are 41 left.

"You can readily see we have a high ratio of loss," Flanagan said in a letter to an Appleton businessman, a copy of which was sent to Mayor Mitchell.

However, Flanagan told a reporter, the situation is not serious and other cities also have high mortality rates when it comes to welcoming banners, flags and similar items.

Henceforth the city and association will avoid putting flags in the block from Durkee to Drew streets. "In this area we expect ience our highest loss ratio while Lawrence is in session," Flanagan observed.

"I recommend we take no action at this time until we have an opportunity to reappraise this situation in the spring," Flanagan said. "Then perhaps we can order replacement flags if we require them."

The flags cost the association about $5.70 apiece. Flanagan said it appears the average loss is about 15 flags a year, adding up to $90 annually.

City officials and downtown merchants asked the cooperation of the younger generation to help keep the flags flying to give Appleton that dressed up look when there is a doings in town.

Flanagan said the association will hold a paper drive Saturday. Anyone living in the Fox Cities, call the school during the week from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. or on Saturday from 8 a.m. to noon, at Regent 4-1160.

Persons living outside of the Appleton area should take their

Homework Becomes Problem for Teachers as Well as Students

BY LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

Our teachers face quite a problem in assigning homework. School work done at home is important. It provides incentive for continued learning after the close of the school day. Also some skills are best learned in an atmosphere free of classroom distractions. Yet homework was out of style for so long that teachers often have difficulty in making the assignments. Recent arithmetic textbooks, for instance, were designed by the authors as a basis around which the teacher could lead her class through a development of applications in mathematics.

Unsafe Problems
Therefore, it is no longer safe to assign any 10 problems from the textbook to be done as homework. Developments involving the use of such problems should take place in the classroom. Often in the early stages of developing new procedures, homework should not be assigned until the pupil has sufficient background and understanding to be able to proceed by himself.

For several years, drill has been a word to avoid in connection with teaching. But homework is at times necessarily drill and should be assigned frankly for that purpose.

For instance, a pupil must drill on number combinations in addition, subtraction, multiplication two and two is four; four times the slowest pupil 10 times as long

All Depends on Which Way You're Traveling

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — It all depends on whether you're coming or going.

G. A. Treake, a member of the Norfolk County Board of Supervisors, pointed out to his fellow members Tuesday that one stretch of road in his district has a 35-mile-per-hour speed limit on one side and a 25-mile speed limit on the other.

The board voted to ask the State Highway Department for an explanation.

as the fastest to complete an assignment, even if both know what is to be done and how to do it.

First, ideas must be brought into the mind; problems and questions must be formulated. Then, a day or a week later, the student completes the assignment.

Students stifle their creativity when they get into the habit of completing their work immediately or when they wait until just before it is due to start work.

Now that homework is back in style, it behooves each teacher to determine what kind of homework and how much of it will most benefit the students in her class.

Antietam Creek in Rural Maryland Scene of Civil War's Bloodiest Day

BY DAN DONAHUE

SHARPSBURG, Md., (AP)—Near this little town in western Maryland, a muddy creek flowed beneath a stone bridge and across the rolling farmland.

A breeze rippled through a field of corn, ripe for harvest. Nearby stood a whitewashed Dunker church. Beyond it, a sunken country lane led through some woods.

This peaceful scene, on a wheat-colored autumn day, became the setting for the bloodiest day of the Civil War.

Gen. Robert E. Lee's Confederate soldiers were bone tired from an all-night march. Slowly, at dawn, they crossed Antietam Creek. It was Sept. 15, 1862. Lee was heading for Pennsylvania, hoping to cut the Union rail ties with the West.

Lee learned that his lieutenant, Gen. Thomas J. (Stonewall) Jackson, had just taken the U. S. arsenal at Harper's Ferry, capturing 12,000 Union soldiers. Now Jackson was on his way to join Lee.

So Lee decided to stand his ground. He would fight off the pursuing Union troops of Gen. George B. McClellan before carrying the war into the North. Victory, it was generally believed, would bring England and France to the South's side.

About mid-day, the Rebels saw the dust of a long column to the north. The Yankees were coming. Two days earlier, fate had smiled on McClellan.

Lee's Orders Found

While hunting for Lee, Union troops had found a copy of Lee's strategic order, dropped by a southern officer. It gave detailed plans for capturing Harper's Ferry with part of his army while the remaining waited further north at Boonsboro.

McClellan had headed west towards South Mountain intending to defeat one portion of the Confederate army at Boonsboro and rescue the Federal garrison on the other. He did win the battle of South Mountain, but he did not cross the mountain passes quickly three separate battles, permitting the outnumbered Confederates to rush men from one sector to another as the day progressed.

In the initial drive, Hooker's men were stopped cold in a cornfield full of Rebels.

Maj. Gen. Joseph K. F. Mansfield, with 12,000 men, was to have joined in the dawn attack. But impatient Joe Hooker started without telling Mansfield. It was an hour later when Mansfield heard the sound of Hooker's guns, realized what had happened, and joined him in battle.

In 3½ hours, men moved back and forth across the bloody cornfield five times, leaving 10,000 dead.

The sunken road was a natural trench for the Confederates of Gen. D. H. Hill. Union troops trying to take it from the top of a hill found themselves looking 100 yards down a slope into the barrels of Rebel rifles.

'Bloody Lane'

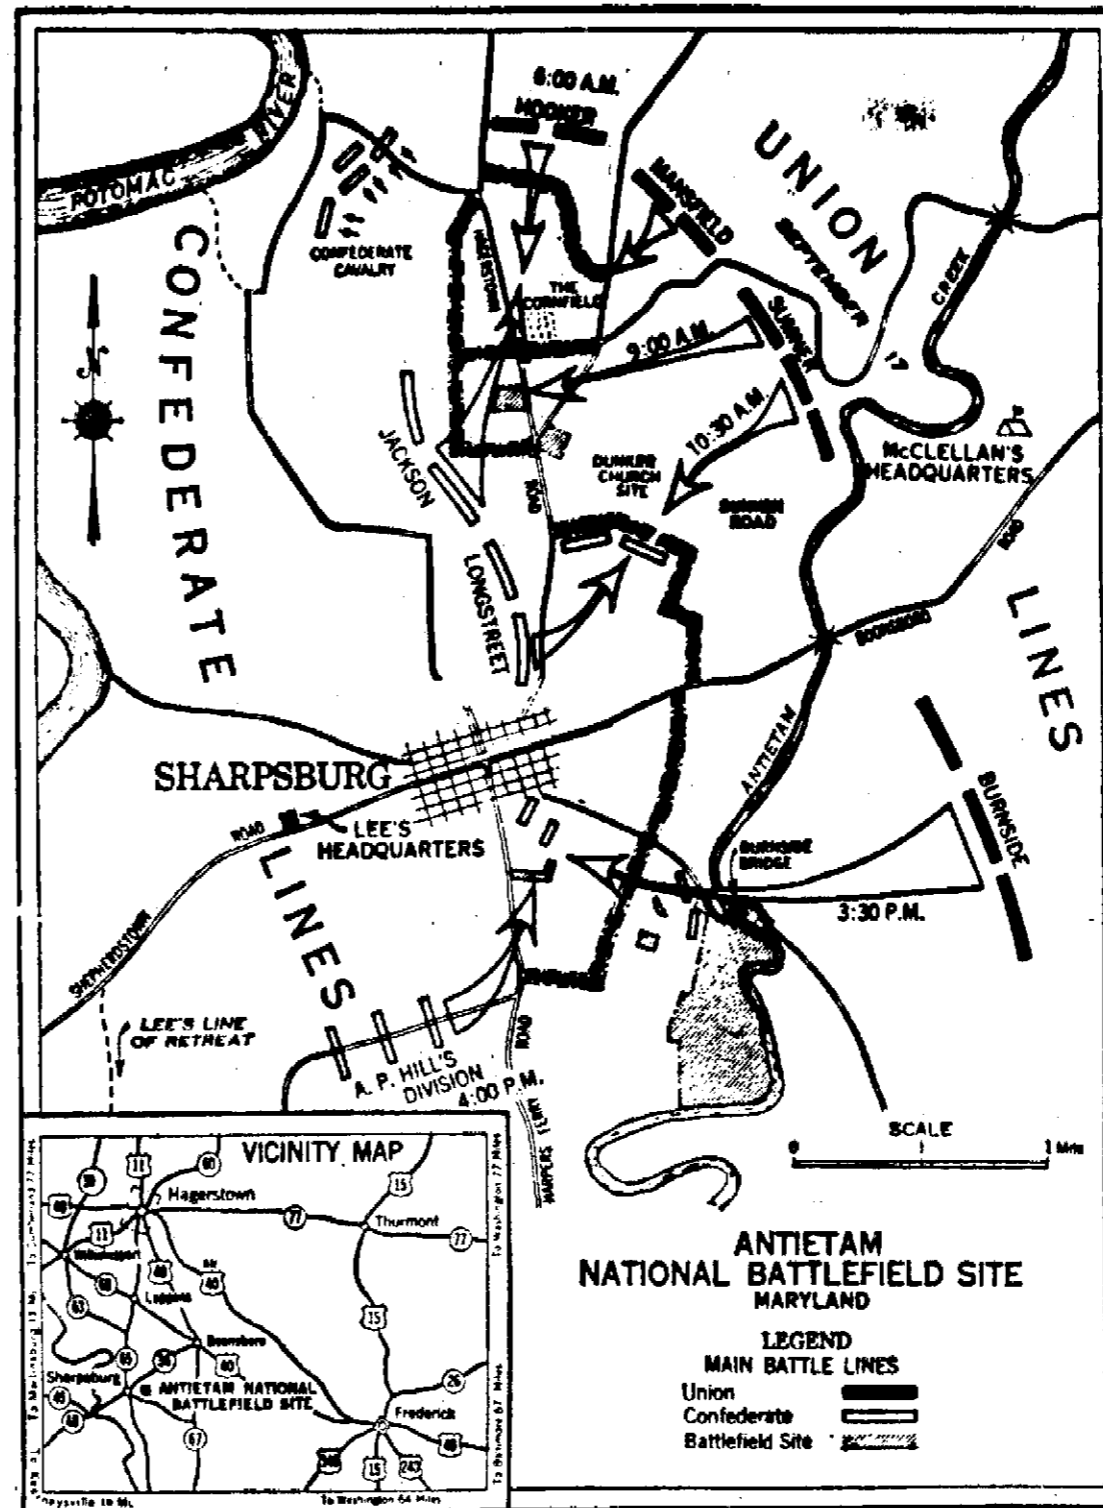

A flanking movement with crossfire the length of the lane finally forced the Confederates to withdraw.

As the battle ebbed, the sunken road — afterward known as Bloody Lane — was so full of bodies the Union could not use it as a trench. In two hours, the dead and wounded there totaled 4,000 men — about evenly divided between Blue and Gray.

Now the action shifted 1½ miles south, to the arched stone bridge across Antietam Creek.

Union Gen. Ambrose E. Burnside had 8,500 men at the bridge, the key to the Confederate rear. Holding them off were 600 Georgia sharpshooters under Col. Robert Tombs.

Despite McClellan's repeated orders to Burnside during the fighting at the cornfield and Bloody Lane, the Rhode Island

This Map of the Antietam battleground near Sharpsburg, Md., shows the lineup of Union and Confederate forces and the movements of troops along meandering Antietam Creek in the three battles of Sept. 17, 1862. In the bloodiest single day of the Civil War, an estimated 22,700 men died or were wounded. Although Antietam was indecisive in a military sense, it thwarted Gen. Robert E. Lee's plans to invade the North, thus sidetracking possible European intervention on the side of the South, and spurred President Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation. (AP Wirephoto) businessman had been unable to take the bridge.

About 1 p.m., Col. Edward Ferriero made a straight run at the bridge with his brigade of New regiment was put down along a stone wall at the bridge approach. Suddenly, the Yankees were across.

The battle looked bleak for Lee. He had used all his reserves in the earlier fighting to the north. At that moment, Confederates of Gen. A. P. Hill, just arriving from Harper's Ferry after a 17-mile forced march hit Burnside's left flank.

Many of the Rebels had taken blue Union uniforms at the arsenal to replace their ragged ones.

No ruse was planned. But it worked that way. Confused to see blue uniforms attacking, Burnside's Union troops fell back all along the line.

This was the inconclusive end of the war's bloodiest day. The two armies faced each other all next day, but did not renew the battle.

That night, Lee's Confederates began crossing the Potomac at a ford near Shepherdstown. There was no concerted Union effort to stop them.

The single day had cost an estimated 22,700 dead and wounded — 12,410 Federals and 10,291 Confederates. Among the dead were four generals from each side.

Neither side could claim a military victory. Lee had suffered losses he could not afford. McClellan had failed to crush the Confederate Army.

Most significant, perhaps, was the failure of Lee's northern invasion plan. Because of it, England and France decided to keep hands off the American war.

Just five days after Antietam, President Lincoln issued a preliminary emancipation proclamation. The final document of Jan. 1, 1863, freed the Negroes and made slavery — not saving the last war — the main issue of the war.

No Progress in North Western Strike Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Negotiators try again today to get apparently deadlocked negotiations back on the track in the Chicago & North Western Railway strike. There was no indication of progress after day and night sessions Tuesday between the railroad, the striking AFL-CIO Railroad Telegraphers' Union and Federal Mediator Francis A. O'Neill Jr.

Another session was scheduled for this morning. The negotiations were punctuated by a statement from five sympathizing railroad unions charging the railroad industry with "ganging up against the railroad telegraphers."

Rent Basement Of Church for Kindergarten

Kaukauna Board Approved Flu Shots For School Employees

KAUKAUNA — The board of education approved the rental of the basement of Bethany Lutheran Church for use as a kindergarten classroom.

Julian Bichler, superintendent of schools, reported first grade classes at Park and Nicolet School were overcrowded, having more students per class than approved by the state. This came as a result of late registrations by parents who failed to register children at the proper time.

Space in Nicolet is not available for an additional class for first graders, thus one of the kindergarten classes will be moved to the church basement. The basement is suitable for school use since it was designed for use by children in Sunday school. The board approved the hiring of Mrs. Rosalie Terry, Neenah, to teach the extra first grade.

Provide Maintenance
Janitorial service in the basement of the church will be provided by the school. Some minor equipment may have to be moved into the church, but the majority of items already are in the rooms, according to the superintendent.

Approval was given to administering flu shots to school employees if desired. No charge will be made.

made. Board members instructed the superintendent to have local doctors set up a permanent flu shot program for employees thus making shots available every six months and providing year around protection.

Bids on fuel oil were opened with Schouten Oil, Andrews Oil, Schmidt Oil, Lucht Fuel and Supply and Balza Deep Rock sharing since all submitted identical bids of 10.84 cents per gallon. Board members indicated all dealers were supplied oil from the same source. Schouten Oil submitted low bid of 10.9 cents for fuel oil to be used at Harrison School.

Boiler Report
A report on boilers in city schools indicated those in grade schools in good shape, but repairs needed to the small water heating boiler in the high school. Superintendent Bichler indicated this work would be done by the heating contractor working on the new school addition since a clause in the original contract stated existing heating systems must be repaired.

The superintendent was authorized to advertise for bids on language laboratory equipment, bids to be reviewed at the Oct. 9 meeting. The equipment will be purchased in 1963 and installed in rooms presently used by the band. A new band room will be housed in the addition.

Approval was given to permit college students do practice teaching in the Kaukauna system.

Youth Meet
SUGAR BUSH — The Young Peoples' Society of Grace and Emanuel Lutheran churches met at Grace church parlors. The Rev. Julius Manteufel presented the Bible study. Darrel and Duaine Hintz were on the serving committee.

Savory Casseroles, Piping Hot from Oven, Chase Away Chills of Dreary Fall Days

It's Sausage that puts the flavor in this dish. Slices of ring bologna or any of the family's favorites form a circle around the top of the baked dish that's really a variation of scalloped potatoes prepared with canned cream of celery soup and a touch of minced onion.

Marketing Memo for September

Fall harvest of apples, pears and melons will bring generous supplies to the markets this week. Supplies of watermelon are going down quickly and cantaloupes will begin to taper off. Honeydews are at their peak now and Persian melons are plentiful, with more than a third of the year's supply on the market this month. Casaba melons are at their peak during this month and next. Crenshaw melons are a September market item. Many stores are carrying these more unusual melons. Try them for variety and the vitamin C and A they contribute. A half cantaloupe gives more than three-fourths of the vitamin C you need each day and all the vitamin A needed. Yet you'll add on only 37 calories.

Pears Plentiful
Pears are available at many times during the year but the heaviest supply is approaching. West coast pears are on the market now and will continue through the month. The crop of Bartlett pears is above average harvest. A large but not bumper crop of apples is expected when the final crop is picked. September varieties are the McIntosh, Delicious, Jonathan, Wealthy, Cortland and Greening. Turkeys and chickens are being raised in smaller amounts but there will still be a good supply. Probably the same amounts will be eaten at about the same prices.

Local vegetables will still be available until the frosts hit. Carrots, cabbage and celery are a few of the plentiful. The potato crop looks like a bumper one. In 1960 the yield hit a high and about 2 per cent more potatoes are expected to be harvested in Wisconsin this year.

Measure Detergent

Home laundry experts emphasize that good cleanliness results are directly related to the amount of washing product used. Do you want clean, bright "laundry" every time? Then use an adequate amount of soap or detergent for every tub or machine load.

Work-Savers

Today good laundry procedures are quite different from those of 10 to 15 years ago. Homemakers who use judgment in sorting their clothes and selecting the correct temperatures for washing and drying various fabrics will preserve appearances of clothes as well as save on ironing time. The control dials on automatic washing machines and clothes dryers help achieve cleaner, whiter, less wrinkled laundry.

Clover Rolls

Here's one way of making clover rolls. Place balls of yeast dough in muffin-pancups; with a kitchen scissors cut the balls into quarters, almost to the bottom.

Canned Cream Style corn and macaroni with cheese make this casserole hearty enough for the main course of a meal. It also makes an excellent accompaniment for fish or beef. Here it's served as a luncheon or supper with a tomato aspic salad.

This Plum Crunch Both Cobbler, Deep Dish Pie

Purple Plum Crunch, a sort of combination cobbler and deep dish pie, may be made with either fresh or home-frozen fruit. The dark purple plums, full and delicious, are one of Idaho's prize autumn crops and are at their peak of season right now. The dessert is delicious served with pour-on cream, whipped cream slightly sweetened and flicked with cinnamon or grated orange rind. Another topping that goes well is one of cream cheese, whipped to a fluff with a bit of milk, then topped with bits of candied orange peel or toasted slivered almonds.

Here is the recipe with its own streusel topping that makes the crunch a natural for serving plain, too, if preferred.

Purple Plum Crunch
4 cups plums, pitted and quartered
4 tablespoons brown sugar
3 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1 cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon mace
1 egg, well beaten
1/2 cup butter, melted.

Fill oblong or square baking dish with prepared plums to within one-half inch of top. Mix together brown sugar, flour and cinnamon; sprinkle over top of plums.

For the topping, the second half of the recipe, combine all dry ingredients in flour sifter. Then sift into beaten egg. Using a table fork, mix together until very crumbly.

Sprinkle crumbly mixture over top of plums, being careful not to mix it in since this is a topping. Drizzle melted butter over top. Bake in 375-degree oven for 45 minutes. Serve warm with additional sauce toppings, if desired, or serve plain. Recipe makes between six to eight servings.

Clean Glass Tops With Ease

Those heavy glass tops, used to protect wood tables and cabinets, can be washed right "on location." Spread newspaper over the floor to catch drips, up-end the glass, and sponge both sides and all edges with thick soap or detergent suds. Then rinse with a clean damp cloth and polish with a chamois or lint-free cloth. To prevent fingermarks on the clean glass, wear a cloth glove on your "holding" hand.

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

It was that long stretch of gloomy, glowering and bone-chilling weather earlier in the week that did it . . . by Tuesday recipe files were being gleaned for hearty oven foods to bring a bit of cheer to a soggy, dreary world. There's nothing more heartening in rainy autumn weather than a cheerful kitchen all a-bustle with the preparation of stick-to-the-rib foods. Just the savory odors from an oven can do wonders to perk up a family that's weary of bad weather.

The search ended with a small collection of casserole dishes . . . easy to prepare in the afternoon and ready to be served piping hot at dinner time. These are not extravagant dishes . . . they all use ordinary foods . . . but they have a special flavor or a sparkle about them that make them outstanding. They're excellent to keep on hand for the next siege of gusty weather and many a homemaker will find them useful throughout the cold months ahead to spark winter meals.

All the recipes are hearty enough to be in the one-dish meal class . . . but the menu could be expanded with ease to include hot rolls, a green salad and perhaps a simple dessert. They're delicious enough to serve company at an informal buffet and the food favorites in them will make them naturals for young fry appetites.

They include a sausage casserole that can use slices of ring bologna, spicy Polish sausage or other family favorites . . . a delicious combination of corn and franks . . . corn teamed with macaroni and sharp cheese . . . and a versatile cheese puff that can be prepared in many variations.

So look for the paper shears . . . these recipes are really worth clipping.

Sausage Casserole
4 potatoes, sliced raw
1 can cream of celery soup
1 soup can milk
1 teaspoon minced onion
salt, pepper to taste
ring of bologna or other sausage

Layer raw potato slices in greased two-quart casserole. Blend canned cream of celery soup with milk, minced onion, salt and pepper. Pour mixture over potatoes. Cover and bake in 375-degree oven for 45 minutes. Add quarter-inch slices of ring bologna (or other favorite sausage) in circle on top of casserole. Bake 20 minutes longer, or until meat is crispy brown.

Frank 'n Corn Casserole

1 1/2 lb. frankfurters
4 eggs
1/2 cup milk
1/3 cup molasses
1-pound can cream style corn
1/4 cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
Beat together eggs, milk and molasses. Blend in corn, onion and salt. Pour into 1 1/2-quart casserole which has been rubbed with butter. Bake in 325-degree oven about one hour.

Cut franks in halves crosswise. Remove casserole from oven, then arrange franks around edge of baked food to form a crown. Return to oven to bake for another 10 to 15 minutes until a silver knife inserted in center of corn custard comes out clean.

Macaroni-Corn Casserole
1/2 pound macaroni
1/2 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup butter, melted
2 1/2 cups milk
1/2 pound sharp cheese, grated
4 ounces canned pimientos, diced
1-pound can cream style corn

Hot Water Supply

It's a good idea to locate your water heater close to the spot where the most hot water is used. Less heat is lost when water pipes are short. Hot water is delivered more quickly, too.

Frankfurters, Perhaps America's most versatile meat, forms a crown for this casserole. The corn custard, sparkled with molasses, forms the base into which halves of wieners are inserted to make both an attractive and tasty dish.

Bread That Has passed the fresh stage can be turned into this delicious hot Sandwich Cheese Puff. It's a stack sandwich layered with shredded Cheddar cheese and topped with a zesty custard. It's also a dish that has many variations and can be made with crumbled bacon, flaked tuna or an interesting vegetable mixture.

Science in Bridge Play

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

The rough-and-ready bridge player is often the salt of the earth. "I don't hold with all this scientific folderol," he will tell you. "I play bridge by the seat of my pants." The last time I heard this remark the hand had its points of interest.

North-South vulnerable

West, our salty hero, opened the five of clubs, and his partner won with the ace. East returned the seven of clubs, and South unhesitatingly played the ten.

West won with the jack of clubs and sat in solemn silence for a moment or two. He wasn't thinking, for this is taboo to a man who plays by the seat of his pants. But he didn't play immediately because even his pants could tell there was a problem.

If South had only one more club, it was safe for West to cash the king of clubs.

Wrong Decision

After a few seconds of silence West decided to lead out the king of clubs. It was the wrong decision, for now the defenders were limited to three clubs and the ace of hearts.

West could have defeated the contract by switching to any new suit. Sooner or later East would get the lead with the ace of hearts, and then another club return would allow West to take two more tricks. The defenders would get one heart and four clubs.

West didn't have to be a great scientist to find the right answer to his problem. If East has four or more clubs, he returns his original fourth-highest card; otherwise he returns his highest club. The seven of clubs cannot be a fourth-best, so it must be highest from an original holding of A-7-6 or A-7-3 or possibly only the doubleton A-7.

The best chance is to play East for one more club and a high card that will gain him the lead. West should switch to a diamond and hope for the best.

No sensible bridge player despises the seat of his pants. It would be a nuisance to play standing up. But it's just as well to remember that heads also were given to us for a reason.

Daily Question

As dealer you hold: S Q J 6 2, H Q J 8 4, D A Q 9 C 8 4. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. You have 12 points in high cards and 1 point for the doubleton, but this is not a good 13-point hand for an opening bid. Beware of opening a borderline hand with only one of the eight aces and kings.

Gentleman Chef

Roman Lucullus Dined in Style

BY MALCOLM R. HEBERT
Chicago Daily News Service

The ancient Roman, Lucullus, was an early apostle of the gourmet life.

He once instructed his cook to spend $1,000 per person per dinner. Nothing was to be spared for his guests.

Dining alone one evening, Lucullus discovered that his chef had spent less than the usual $1,000. When confronted with this the chef explained it away with, "But master, since you are dining alone..."

Lucullus exploded, "That is precisely why the dinner is always to be extra choice. Lucullus is the guest of Lucullus."

Whether this story is true or not, you needn't spend a $1,000 per meal per guest when entertaining. One thing you should insist upon, though, is the best ingredients.

It. Use Hollandaise sauce made with butter and not a mock Hollandaise if you wish a dish to taste right.

An occasional check of herbs is in order too. Indispensable to cooking, herbs can play an important part in culinary preparations. Fresh herbs are always better, but today, dried herbs are plentiful from a wide variety of stores, and they are almost as good as the fresh.

Here is a recipe that uses herbs in a marinade for steak.

Steak Victor

3 pounds round steak, 1 1/2 inches thick
2 tablespoons cognac
2 tablespoons olive oil
2 tablespoons lime juice (fresh if possible)
1 tablespoon salt
1/4 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
1 clove garlic, minced
1/2 teaspoon each oregano, basil and thyme

Combine cognac, olive oil, lime juice, salt, pepper, garlic, oregano, basil and thyme. Marinate steak at least two hours in the corners in order to save a penny mixture turning it every half hour, your dish will taste like hour. Preheat oven and broil to

Your Problems Marriage Needs Apartness, Not Togetherness Says Reader

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A great deal has been written in favor of "Togetherness." Now I'd like to say something in support of "Apartness."

After 18 years of "Togetherness," my husband announced he has found someone who understands him better and is more fun. He wants a few months of "Apartness" in which to think things over.

My big mistake was going to work in my husband's business. It was a temporary measure until he could hire permanent help — I told myself. But your own business has qualities like quicksand. You never get out — only in, deeper and deeper.

My husband and I were together 24 hours a day. I knew what he was going to say before he opened his mouth. He must have been equally bored with me. After 10 hours in business I'd put in another 4 hours doing housework. He'd relax. Then the complaints began. I wasn't fun anymore.

Now that we have no financial worries and money in the bank, I'm a worn-out nag and he needs a fully 16' of this. He's a warning to you gals who are tempted to try the double harness bit. Stay home where you belong. If your husband needs help, let him hire someone. It will be cheaper in the long run.

— Ready for the Glue Factory

Dear Reader: Fine reward for 18 years of loyal service. May be your husband needs a saliva test.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Several members of our family live out of town. What I want to know is this: When a visitor arrives from another city is she supposed to call up the people she wishes to see and say, "Hello, I am here. Or are her friends and relatives supposed to call her and say, "Welcome when they learn she has arrived?"

We are an informal group and

(there has been no trouble among the relatives so long as I can remember. But now a certain party has married into the family and this problem has come up. She has been in town for three days and has not called anyone. We would like to entertain her, but if I'm not mistaken she is supposed to call those of us she wishes to see. Am I right or wrong? — Laura

Dear Laura: The out-of-towner is indeed supposed to take the initiative. However, this is not a crime punishable by solitary confinement.

Some people are actually unaware of this point of etiquette. So it would be gracious to call her and say "Welcome."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My problem concerns my bachelor son who is 31 years old. We share a lovely two-story home. On the second floor is my bedroom and sitting room. Clifton's bedroom, which is also on the second floor, has an adjoining library with a built-in cocktail bar.

He has no special sweetheart but prefers to date two or three young women a week. He often brings them home to dinner. Some of his female companions are charming and well-bred. Others are cheap and unladylike. I never comment.

A few weeks ago Clifton stated something I don't approve of. After dinner he invites his girl friend to see his quarters on the second floor. The door is closed and that's the last I see of them. When I told him I didn't think this was proper he replied, "I'm not a teenager. Mother. This is my home too."

Am I old-fashioned? Is he right?

Modest Miz Agnes Real Gourmet Cook

BY LUCIA LEWIS
 Chicago Daily News Service

ST. CROIX, Virgin Islands — Sometimes Miz Agnes claps a white sailor cap on her head. Sometimes she ties on a bright bandanna in West Indies style. Again it may be a jaunty little beret or a flaring straw beach hat.

She always dons some kind of topper when she emerges from the kitchen to preside over occasions like the crepes suzette ceremony on the seaside dining terrace of Estate Good Hope.

But she is too modest to wear the hat she has really earned—the tall white crown of a master chef. Staying at this distinguished resort is like visiting in a private home (a very private home owned by Laurence Rockefeller) so you don't get printed menus, just pleasant surprises.

Started at 14

Miz Agnes doesn't flaunt any Cordon Bleu medals; says she just started cooking when she was 14 and learned all she knows from an aunt and in cooking for her family. (In private life she is Mrs. Williams, with six children ranging up from elementary school to a son studying business administration at the University of Puerto Rico and a daughter taking nurse's training at a San Juan hospital.)

She concocts a wide range of international dishes as easily as she prepares the local island specialties, glorifying standard recipes with a dash of imagination and then wondering why everybody makes such a fuss over her meals.

"It's easy — nothing special," she shrugs.

Seasoning Artist

An artist in seasonings, she especially loves the wild thyme that grows profusely on St. Croix. But just a pinch here and there, no heavy hand on the herbs is her cooking creed. You can't detect what the seasoning is, it just tastes good.

Unlike many chefs, she freely gives out recipes and confides her tricks. They sound so simple that one guest, after Agnes' casual instructions, exclaimed: "You expect me to believe you? It can't be that simple!"

It's the simplicity of a great pianist who makes a concerto sound so easy, or a great dancer who isn't counting a-one and a-two and a-three as she prouettes.

Like dropping tender vegetables into boiling chicken broth, covering them tightly, turning off the heat and letting them get tender without cooking. It takes only a little longer than the traditional way.

Or tossing a few caraway seeds into fresh cooked cabbage, adding just a hint of garlic and olive oil to greens. Vegetables and soups, so often rather uninspired side dishes in restaurants, get extraordinary care.

PET DOCTOR
 By A. W. Miller, D.V.M.

Q. The veterinarian said our dog eats too much grass. How can I stop this? Troy Murphree, Gales Ferry, Conn.

A. If he's keeping the lawn trimmed around the edges, I'd like to borrow him for the summer. Actually, he is eating grass because all dogs need some green vegetable as roughage to keep themselves healthy. We don't know the exact reasons, but it apparently contains something needed by their bodies. Sometimes eating grass indicates gastric distress. In these cases grass seems to neutralize some of the excess acids. I've long recommended that dogs be fed chopped lettuce, celery and green vegetables—approximately a tablespoon mixed with each meal. I've found this effective in controlling their desire to eat grass. This is particularly important in industrial areas where the grass is contaminated by fumes and waste.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

CHILDREN AND GROWNUPS
 We love to entertain our friends at supper in our patio, though we never suggest that they bring their children.

So what do we do about our own? Do we feed them early in the kitchen and get them out of the way by the time the guests arrive. They are unhappy when we do this. Would it be better to invite fewer guests and tell them to bring their youngsters, so we could all eat together outdoors? Louise Davis Answers:

Whether or not you wish to have your guests bring their children or leave them at home is up to you. Why not try it both ways? When you entertain just the adults, I suggest that if your children are well mannered, you let them be around for a little while, then dismiss them. It is excellent training for them to say "how do you do" to your guests and to act like little ladies and gentlemen as long as they are in the presence of your guests. As the gracious host and hostess, it would be up to you as parents to keep an objective eye on your children to make sure that they don't spend too much time at your adult party. The presence of children often curtails and impedes conversation and the mother can't give her undivided attention to guests if children are present. If you think your party would be more fun without the children, then the youngsters could have their own little "pretend-patio-supper" in the house.

Appealing After-Game Snacks

BY MARY-BETH KUESTER
Home Economist
Wisconsin-Milwaukee Power Co.

Invite friends in to warm up after the football game with coffee and doughnuts. While the coffee perks, set out a basket of shiny apples and start the corn popping. Fry golden doughnuts (or bismarks) at the table.

An electric frypan is excellent for doughnut frying and corn popping. Set pan at 350 degrees to pop corn. Add oil and popcorn but don't remove cover until corn stops popping.

Doughnuts are just as easy. Punch holes in centers of refrigerated biscuits using thumb dipped in flour. Fry doughnuts (and holes) in hot, 375-degree fat about two minutes. Drain on paper towels. Coat with cinnamon-sugar, powdered sugar or serve plain.

For bismarks, flatten each biscuit to one-fourth inch. Place one teaspoon jelly on half the biscuits

Cover with the remaining biscuits, sealing the edges. Fry in deep hot fat (375 degrees) three minutes. Drain on paper towels. These are delicious plain or coated with granulated sugar.

If you prefer to make your own doughnuts, here's a quick new recipe.

Raised Doughnuts
1 pkg. active dry yeast
1/2 cup warm water (110 degrees)
1/2 cup lukewarm milk, scalded then cooled
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 egg
1/2 cup soft shortening
3 1/2 cups flour

Dissolve yeast in warm water in bowl. Stir in remaining ingredients, but only half the flour. Mix with spoon until smooth. Add milk into large bowl with sugar, anise and butter. Stir in eggs and yeast mixture. Add half the flour, beat mixture until smooth, three inches. Let strips rise in bowl. Turn dough out onto lightly floured board, at a time. Use spoon to mix at edge of each roll several times on one side past middle. Fry in hot fat until browned evenly. Shake with flour on lightly floured board that's cloth covered. Knead dough until smooth, 30 strokes. Place dough in slightly greased bowl; turn once to bring greased side up. Cover with clean cloth or towel and let rise in 85-degree place for about one hour. Punch dough down; turn and let rest for 15 minutes.

Roll dough one-half inch thick on lightly floured, cloth-covered board. Cut into strips one by one, three inches. Let strips rise in bowl. Turn dough out onto lightly floured board, at a time. Use spoon to mix at edge of each roll several times on one side past middle. Fry in hot fat until browned evenly. Shake with flour on lightly floured board that's cloth cover-

Our First Ladies Have Always Been Targets for Criticism

BY FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON, AP — Jacqueline Kennedy may find some comfort in recalling that First Ladies before her were targets of criticism, too.

From Martha Washington to the modern era there have been brights flying along with the accolades.

Some of the disapproval has been on the personal side, some on the political.

Amid extravagant praise, for example, Dolly Madison once heard a male critic deride her as "fat, forty, but not fair."

Swim Suit Controversy

As the latest target, Mrs. Kennedy drew the ire of a Baptist minister in Colorado and a London newspaper during her vacation in Ravella, Italy.

The clergyman disapproved of public, photographed appearances in bathing suits by the First Lady and her husband, the President.

He said they apparently had thrown decorum, dignity and decency overboard.

The newspaper also appealed to Mrs. Kennedy to give up what it called the madness of water skiing with her 4-year-old daughter, Caroline.

This was not the first — and won't be the last — of the criticism Mrs. Kennedy will encounter.

But alongside the storms that have raged about some of her predecessors, these latest harbs seem mild.

Martha Kept Silent

One historian reports that Martha Washington quickly learned to be cautious and "careful not to express an opinion on any mib

Appleton Man Named To District Board Of Missouri Synod

Henry Scheig, 1318 S. Alicia Drive, Appleton, has been named to membership on the board of directors of the North Wisconsin District of the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod, according to an announcement from the Rev. Lloyd Goetz of De Pere, president of the district.

Scheig succeeds Ted Hartman, also of Appleton, who resigned the district post to accept election to the Missouri Synod's Board of Stewardship.

In another shift involving an Appleton man, the Rev. Roland Pinke of Merrill was appointed to the district board of directors' post made vacant when the Rev. Henry Simon of Appleton was elected to the Synod's Board for World Missions.

Pastor Simon, Scheig and Hartman are members of Faith Lutheran Church on Appleton's northeast side.

Little Hope Seen for Human Race by Writer

GY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Novelist James Jones, who enjoys life hugely himself, feels the human race is a lost cause.

"I'm pessimistic about mankind," he said cheerfully. "I think mankind is a dead race — one way or the other."

"Either he'll be the springboard to a greater race that will be as much above present man as man is above the animals, or else he'll kill himself off," Jones says.

"In either case man—as he is now—goes. The question is not whether to save mankind, but whether mankind has the guts to change."

Jones, a soldier turned author, startled the literary world in 1951 with "From Here to Eternity," which sold more than four million copies. Critics now are hailing as an able sequel, a raw, realistic story of combat on Guadalcanal, where Jones himself was wounded.

Likes Prose
Jim, the most powerful writer to emerge from World War II, looks like his prose sounds. He's a slugger — thick-chested, muscular, with a chin like a concrete dam.

Now married and the father of a 3-year-old daughter, Jim roams between Paris and the island of pain rather than inflict it on others.

He likes to box, skin divers, and collect guns, knives, jazz records and Indian carvings. Stubborn, toughly sentimental, he likes to go on an occasional binge. But he is a laborious craftsman to whom the production of a novel is usually a lonely, arduous one-man military campaign, lasting from three to four years.

"I don't wait for inspiration—no real writer can," he says. "I just sit my behind down at the typewriter and work. It takes me an hour to get started. I just sit there until I get geared up. Then I keep at it for five more hours."

"I also like to keep in good physical shape. But I wouldn't give up living to stay in shape. There are a lot of enticements in living."

Jim put in five years in the Army, and knew some lean post-war years before book and movie sales flooded him with a tide of fifth ward, 97.

dollars, which he enjoys spending with both hands.

"Success hasn't changed my basic viewpoint," he said, opening a can of beer in his hotel room. "It has given me money, and I live better — which I'm not against."

"But success is like history. It's just one big lie—except for the money."

He likes to feel that he looks at the world honestly and without illusion or hypocrisy.

"Life has been great to me," he acknowledged, "but it is still scary. And for most people it is better than that. If he is going to evolve into a higher type of life form, he has to become a type that would prefer to accept pain rather than inflict it on others."

"Unless man does evolve, he is likely to kill himself off. But evolution takes time, and the question is whether he has the time left."

Asked to put his philosophy in a single sentence, Jones pondered. His green eyes flickered into a smile.

"Life is a roller coaster ride," he tipped up the beer can again—"hold on tight!"

SMELLS BARRACUDA IN FISHY DEAL

Dear Cy: According to an automobile dealer's ad, we could get possession of a certain car for $40 down, and payments of $21.18. My son and I went to see the car, and learned the payments were $21.18 each, but two payments had to be made every month. The amount due every 30 days would actually be $42.36. My son is in love with the car and is clamoring for me to buy it. To me, the whole thing looks fishy, even though the total price and number of payments asked, seems to be right. Would you pay the money down and start paying on this car?

MOM

DEAR MOM: This deal smells as fishy as a barracuda pretending to be a porpoise. Periodic payments are normally quoted in monthly terms. Any departure from that tradition should be flagged by the seller... or avoided by the buyer. Tranquelize your son with an immediate trip to a different dealer.

Cy

Dear Cy: A rich uncle of mine never spoke to any of his nephews. We didn't hate him. We just didn't have any feelings about the man, since he avoided us all. When he died, we got the shock of our lives, as he left us each property. I got farmland: 65 acres. Part of it is in pasture and is located on a main, highly travelled highway between two cities. Where this land adjoins the highway, it is within hailing distance of a crossroads with an outdoor movie theatre, and a Dog 'n' Suds drive-in. I am the type of person who has a tremendous drive to get into some venture on his own. What could I do with this land promotionally?

STEWART H.

DEAR STEWART: Stake out a piece of your farm totalling 60,000 square feet; that's all. But it should be on the highway. Convert this area into a Putt-R-Golf course. A Putt-R-Golf layout looks like miniature golf, but isn't. Through special surfacing, the golf holes putt like greens. Don't let the $6,000 investment deter you. It can be financed, and you could grow a net of $10,000 in this pasture during a short northern season.

Cy

Dear Cy: Within two months, I will complete four years of navy service. I have specialized in electronics and am now an electronics technician, second class. It is imperative that I go to work immediately upon my release from the navy, and I would much prefer electronics work. My problem is: How do I go about contacting companies that could train a man of my experience into some line of industrial work? How would I earn of firms offering training

2 Policemen Will Assume New Positions

Safety Committee Gives Final Okay To Detective Posts

Two recently appointed detectives will assume their new duties on the Appleton police department Oct. 1, Chief Earl O. Wolff said today.

The appointees, who will be filling vacancies existing in the detective bureau due to a death and a retirement from the force, are

Robert Breckenridge

Robert Breckenridge, 33, 526 E. Coolidge Ave., and Carl Thiel, 31, 1107 W. Spring St.

"Both men came up through the ranks," Chief Wolff said, adding that each served nine years as a patrolman.

Breckenridge and Thiel ranked highest in examinations given by the fire and police commission. They will replace Det. Sgt. Norbert Marx, retired, and Sgt. Erwin Lietz, who died July 3.

Chief Wolff said as of Oct. 1 the detective bureau will consist of a lieutenant, detective sergeant and four detectives.

Short Four Men

The police department has an authorization of 66 men and presently is short four members.

"We hope to bring the depart-

ment up to full strength as soon as possible," Chief Wolff said. He indicated examinations would be given applicants in the near future.

Breckenridge joined the Appleton force April 3, 1953, and has been a squad car patrolman. He is a graduate of Lincoln High School, Manitowoc, and served four years in the army. He worked with the Eastman Manufacturing Co., Manitowoc, before joining the police force.

Thiel was appointed to the department Sept. 1, 1953, and was working as a police clerk before his selection as detective. He is married and the father of five children.

Thiel graduated from Marion High School and has served two years in the Army and spent 10 months in Korea during the Korean police action. He is a former employee of the FDW corp., and the Liebhman Packing Co., Green Bay.

Hortonville Man Found Guilty on Two Charges

Sylvester Hanson, 40, route 1, Hortonville, was found guilty Wednesday of two conservation charges stemming from an arrest by Wisconsin game wardens in April, 1959.

Hanson will be sentenced Friday after being found guilty by a six-man jury of having an illegal number of walleye pike and using fish traps. He was tried in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2.

He was found innocent of having fish traps in his possession at the time of his arrest.

Hanson pleaded innocent April 20, 1959, to the charges after he had been arrested April 14, 1959, in the Town of Liberty.

Medical Society Will Hear Superintendent

The Outagamie County Medical Society will hear Dr. Charles H. Belcher, superintendent of the Winnebago State Hospital, speak on "Chronic Brain Syndromes of the Aged."

The group meets at 6:30 p.m. Sept. 20 at the 41 Bowl in Appleton.

Three Madison Golfers, members of the four-man team which won first place in the team division of the Fifth Annual Wisconsin Professional Policeman's golf tournament, display their trophy at the banquet. From left, are, Walter Shore, Raymond Crary and August Pieper. The fourth member, Kenneth Hartwick, was absent from the banquet. Hartwick was second in the individual play with a gross 76. Board Checks Sheriff Vote, Finds No Change

Heinritz's Margin of 28 Holds After 13 Precincts Re-Examined

The Outagamie County canvassing board has completed its check of the vote in 13 precincts in Tuesday's primary election and there has been no change in the vote for sheriff from the unofficial returns.

Undersheriff Donald J. Heinritz apparently won the Republican nomination by a 28-vote margin over Elden Broehm, Appleton city clerk. County Police Sgt. George Elise was third, less than 600 votes behind.

All precincts checked by the board thus far are in the rural area and involve less than 1,900 of the more than 17,000 votes cast in the sheriff race.

In the 13 precincts, Heinritz received 481 votes, Broehm 216 and Elise 690, the canvass shows. The count was identical in the unofficial returns reported Tuesday night for those precincts.

Precincts included are the towns of Black Creek, Bovina, Buchanan, Center, Cleora, Dale, Deer Creek, Ellington, Freedom, both precincts in Grand Chute, Greenville and Hortonville.

The canvassing board will resume its work at 1 p.m. today.

The canvass probably will not be completed until sometime Friday. On the board are County Judge Stanley A. Staidl, John Corcoran, Kaukauna, and Max Kuehn, Appleton.

Girl Uninjured After Setting Fire to Skirt

A 17-year-old former Appleton girl, who is being held temporarily as a prisoner in the Outagamie County jail, was halted in the act of setting her clothes on fire as she sat on them Wednesday afternoon.

Sheriff Robert Heinritz said he heard screams from the juvenile girl's section of the jail and rushed into the cell with jailer Anthony Van Wymeren. The girl was sitting on her folded skirt, Heinritz said, and flames were beginning to burn about her.

Heinritz said he picked up the girl and Van Wymeren stomped out the flames. The girl had not been injured.

Heinritz said the girl had turned herself in to the Appleton Police Station after she had run away from her De Pere home, where she is living with a relative. She is being held while the Catholic Apostolate makes arrangements to send her back home.

Sheboygan Moves Ahead With Municipal Planning

Plan Director Discusses Work Being Done There at Appleton Project 70 Meeting

Although lacking in industry — something which Appleton does not — the City of Sheboygan is moving ahead with municipal planning to project the orderly development of that lakeshore community through 1980.

This was indicated today by Herbert D. Maier, Sheboygan planning director, in a talk before members of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce Project 70 committee.

Sheboygan has a separate planning division within its municipal government although limited in personnel. However, that city has relied heavily upon private consultants for advice for the future in addition to the federal government which provides grants for certain projects.

No Division

While Maier confined his remarks to the operation of the Sheboygan planning division, it was obvious that in certain areas of "looking to the future," Appleton has yet to catch up. However, the City of Appleton is handicapped by the fact it does not have a division for planning. All of that work is being done within the department of public works.

Maier was Sheboygan's first planner, assuming the position more than five years ago. The division's budget then was about $7,000 but for 1961 because of the many surveys in the "works" the appropriation exceeded the $20,000 mark.

Among the major projects launched by the Sheboygan plan division, which Maier stressed are necessary for the sound growth of any community, are:

Lists Points

A complete analysis of the city's central business district. An economic base study to point out the problems and assets of the Sheboygan community. This is being carried out with state and federal aids, plus municipal funds, under the federal 701 program.

Aerial photographs have been taken of the entire city of Sheboygan, something which is of tremendous assistance to planners to get a real look at the community as it exists today.

The zoning ordinance is being revised to bring it up to date on land usage for the years ahead.

Work has started in establishing a growth pattern trend in the Sheboygan area, something which will be watched closely by the people molding the city's physical future.

Make Survey

A survey has been made to determine the number of commercial and industrial acres the City of Sheboygan will need during the next 18 to 20 years as present industries expand and new ones locate there.

"The surveys and reports are a guide to help the Plan Commission and Common Council arrive at decisions," Maier explained. He indicated some plans are nearing the stage where they can be put into action.

Sheboygan's municipal officials and planners according to Maier, are also talking about urban renewal work in the central business district. A tentative plan has been drawn up but is subject to revision.

Will Change

Ultimate traffic circulation plans have also been prepared by the Sheboygan plan division, but as Maier put it, they are subject to revision periodically.

"Let's face it, within a year's time things can change... and they do," Maier said.

On the subject of parking, all ways of paramount interest to the motorist as well as the merchant, Maier declared: "The closer you can get parking facilities to the business areas the better it is."

Looking to the long haul, Maier said Sheboygan has hired a consultant to make a preliminary study of 40 acres of so-called flood land with an eye toward eventually developing it into an industrial park. Such a project is considered urban renewal and Sheboygan will have to obtain data to prove to the federal government that such an undertaking is feasible. Once approved, the project would qualify for federal assistance.

Sheboygan's overall comprehensive plan, which makes projections to 1980-85, is almost finished, Maier said.

Something which may be considered by Sheboygan officials is a neighborhood renewal plan in which three to four blocks of a large area would be rehabilitated at one time. This also would be city-federally financed but apparently is still in the talking stage.

"It must be realized that communities have to continually spend time and money on planning," Maier told the Project 70 group. He said planning is a separate department and should not be combined with a department of public works or an engineering department.

Maier said one disturbing situation discovered as a result of a study is that many of Sheboygan's young people in the 18 to 24-year-old category are "drifting away from their hometown." He

Bright Outlook Seen for Firm By President

Kaukauna Rotarians Hear Badger Northland Chief

KAUKAUNA — Vincent Rohlf, president of Badger Northland, told Rotarians Wednesday, the future of the company was good and progress was expected to be maintained at the same pace as in the past.

He reminded the club of his first talk in 1950 when the company employed 12 men and he told of hoping to eventually employ from 20 to 35 men. Present permanent employment is 378 with an additional 350 employed indirectly through sales, installation and service of Badger products, Rohlf stated. Figuring part-time employment, he estimated the work force at 1,000 people.

Company Growth

The firm's president explained the great growth during the past 12 years and attributed it to "a state of mind people at Badger Northland work with." A fine product, advertising, good sales force and knowing how to manage also play important parts in the development of the concern, he indicated.

"We at Badger are not content with last year's achievement nor will we be satisfied with this year's effort next year," Rohlf stated. Items sold by Badger, such as barn and barnyard equipment, are on an upward trend and farmers' income is rising, thus sales continue to move forward as farms become more mechanized, the speaker said.

New Products

New products introduced in 1962 which are designed to stimulate year around sales include a manure spreader, forage wagon and silage distributor. Acquisition of the Algoma Foundry and Machine Co., which is expected to be completed by Monday, will add transport mixers, mixer grinders, forage harvesters, silage blowers, hammer mills and rotary cutters to the Badger line, according to Rohlf.

He explained the decision to sell $800,000 of subordinated convertible debentures, due Oct. 1, 1962, indicating money raised will be used to acquire the Algoma firm and retirement of existing indebtedness.

Honored at the luncheon meeting was Kenneth Look who left today for a year of study at Nottingham University, England, under a Rotary Fellowship. Look is a recent graduate of the University of Wisconsin where he majored in pharmacy.

The club presented the youth with a check to help finance a portion of his stay in England.

Kaukauna Field Not Ready

Ghosts Will Play First Home Game At Little Chute

KAUKAUNA — Delay in construction of the new athletic field has forced Kaukauna High School to schedule its first home game, Sept. 21, at the Little Chute gridiron, according to Guy Krumm, athletic director.

Originally it was thought the field would be ready for games this fall, but rain and other delays has slowed construction. The opening game will be against the Menasha Bluejays.

The Little Chute village board granted Kaukauna use of the park, without charge, although Kaukauna will move additional bleachers into the area and provide material for marking the field.

Since games will be scheduled from week to week until it can be determined when the new field is ready, no adult season tickets will be sold, according to Krumm. Little Chute has only one ticket booth and to facilitate handling of crowds, advance single game tickets can be purchased at Look Drugs on the southside and Johnson Drugs on the northside.

Ticket holders will then be able to use any of various gates for entrance to the park.

Vocational Schools To Offer Course in Strength of Materials

A course in strength of materials will be offered this fall by the five Fox Cities vocational schools, in cooperation with the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center.

The course will include eight two-hour sessions at the Appleton Vocational School, from 7 to 9

The Atomic Energy Commission and the Maritime Administration said the ship is scheduled to transit the Panama Canal Sept. 18 and arrive at Seattle about Oct. 1.

Industrialists Describe Role Of Their Firms

Talbot Peterson, Charles Buchanan Speak to Rotary

Talbot Peterson and Charles Buchanan told fellow Rotary Club members of the roles their families' businesses played in the development of Appleton.

Peterson, vice president of Valley Iron Works Corp., and Buchanan, assistant to the plant manager at Appleton Wire Works, are direct descendants of their companies' founders.

Both firms, the speakers said, manufacture products which are essential to the manufacture of paper. Both were founded at the turn of the century to meet the demands of a growing industry in the Fox Valley.

Told History

Peterson described the background of the company, organized in 1900. He got a laugh from his audience when he described the early buildings and methods of the company.

The vice president apparently was proud of his company's part in three wars. In World War I, Peterson said, the firm built marine engines for the merchant marine.

In World War II, Valley Iron was a "key contractor on the Manhattan Project producing pumps for Oak Ridge and the atomic bomb project." For this, he said, the company received the 1946 National Chemical Engineering Achievement award for its work.

Today, Peterson told the Rotarians, as a wholly owned subsidiary of Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co., Valley Iron products are represented throughout the world market.

Told of Family

Buchanan said that his family has been involved in the wire business for over 100 years, both in this country and in Canada. The Appleton branch of his family tree came about through an economic union between Scottish and German ancestors.

In 1896, William, John and G. E. Buchanan and Albert Weissenborn, each with a special talent in the wire business, came to Appleton to meet the demands of Wisconsin manufacturers, and establish a wire weaving plant.

Buchanan, great-grandson of William Buchanan, and grandson of G. E. Buchanan, described the technological improvements his company had made since its founding. He added, "despite the improvements, there has been no technological unemployment." He credited a growing paper business for this.

Buchanan said that with improvements and other factors came higher costs. A modern paper loom today costs about $100,000.

State Colleges Ask Hike in State Funds

60 Per Cent Budget Increase Sought Due to Increase in Enrollments

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Crowded with a record enrollment of nearly 21,000 students for the new fall term and sure of substantial additional gains in student population in 1963 and 1964, Wisconsin state colleges today asked for an increase of 60 per cent in their appropriations for the next two years.

The college administration presented a proposed budget to the Board of Regents of State Colleges, which will transmit it to the governor-elect after the November election and to the 1963 legislature. The proposed spending allowance is $64 million, or $23 million more than the budget authorized for the current biennium.

Alarming Increases

The new budget would permit salary increases for faculty and the financing of payrolls for hundreds of additional college teachers expected to be required to accommodate the continuing enrollment flood.

"The ramifications of such enrollment increases are alarming and fantastic," said E. R. McPhee, director of the state colleges, in presenting the finished budget document today. McPhee said the colleges will need 368 additional teachers to handle the enrollment increases amounting to about 6,500 students during the next two years, without taking into account instructors lost through retirements, death and other factors.

The new legislature and the new governor will be confronted with similarly dramatic budget demands of the University of Wisconsin, indicating that financing problems will dominate the 1963 legislature, as they keynoted the long 1961 legislative deliberation.

State college officers illustrate what they called the "spectacular" enrollment bulge in their institutions by citing the recent experience of Oshkosh State College, which has about 3,300 students this fall and where the student body will rise to more than 4,300 by 1964.

True—False—

Actually, there are several, but one of the most important is this: Start out on the right foot. Speak and write sometimes work harder on their introductions than they do on the main body of their material. If you feel shy in a social situation, learn some things to say and do at the start, and you may find that you can get through the entire evening with success and enjoyment. A good start is not everything, but it can give you the confidence in yourself that you need to go on.

Maybe the attorney who sent me the following letter was pulling my leg but I'll answer it anyway.

"A letter in your column (the writes) about mental illness suggested this question: 'In view of efforts to reach the moon, I wonder what thought has been given to the belief that a person is called a 'lunatic,' meaning not mentally sound, and the word is derived from the word luna. Latin for moon. We know that people mentally afflicted are worse when the moon is full. 'If the moon has such a deleterious effect, why should we want to have anything to do with it?'—W. J. R.

No, even if the moon has any mysterious powers, I'm firmly in favor of finding out everything we can.

The moon has its effect (through gravitational pull) on the tides. There is in progress considerable study of what we call biological clocks. The living habits of oysters, the activities of fish, how birds know which way to fly—all these seem to have some curious relationship to the moon, the sun, the stars. Move some of these creatures hundreds of miles, but them off from natural light, but they still often have some way, apparently, of sensing time and place.

This doubtless has little if anything to do with mental illness, but it is one more indication of what mysteries of biology are yet to be solved by man.

Whatever the mysteries, I can't help being in favor of finding out all we can. Whether it's the moon or mappies or mackerel, our strength resides in learning.

Black and Blue

Dear Dr. Molner, I am going through the change, and I have black and blue spots. The doctor said there wasn't any sign of blood clots, but I am alarmed.—MRS. G.E.W.

These black and blue spots are not uncommon in menopause (the change of life). They are usually due to small blood vessels which break, not clots. More Vitamin C (fruit juices) and/or calcium (milk being the best source) may be helpful. Sometimes Vitamin K helps.

TV Season Promises Many Fine Specials

Jingo Salutes NBC's Project XX, Show of Week for Superior Work

BY JINGO

Some of the best television shows that have hit the air as far as Jingo is concerned at any rate, have been produced by NBC's Project XX crews and "The Show of the Week."

From what Jingo saw in the closed-circuit preview of NBC's new season, the best shows will continue to come from these sources.

One of the most prevalent and least easily defended accusations made against TV is its lack of concern over balance and diversity in its programming. The blood-relation resemblance of the "dramatic" series on all channels, year in and year out, is proof enough. The inbreeding is most evident in the "new" series.

The first law of show business is to never knock success. It is a formula that works, but it is almost synonymous with sterility.

Television is a part of show business, to be sure, but it also is a break through in communications with possibilities nearly beyond comprehension. It is obvious the possibilities are incomprehensible to the series packagers.

However, all is not lost while there are some who recognize that magic of camera, writing and editing that can make education a joy and a thrilling experience. That's what Project XX and The Show of the Week have done and will do.

Six Operas Coming In addition, NBC again will fill its potential by airing six operas during the next season, including the premier of a new Menotti effort as yet untitled.

The line-up will start off with Moussorgsky's great "Boris Godunov" Nov. 18. On Dec. 23, a tradition will be repeated with the performance of Menotti's "Amahl and the Night Visitors."

Jingo

Montemuzzi's "The Love of Three Kings" will be produced Jan. 27 and the new Menotti opera March 3. On April 6 and 7, NBC will make history by producing in two parts, the four-hour "St. Matthew Passion" by Johann Sebastian Bach.

The "World of" series will be enlarged with a biography in sight and sound of Benny Goodman. Mrs. Jackie Kennedy and Maurice Chevalier. The network's president series will add Herbert Hoover commenting on Woodrow Wilson and Dwight Eisenhower and Bruce Catton discussing Lincoln as the Civil War commander-in-chief.

Plans for Project XX "Project XX will turn its genius to the examination of Old Testament stories in the pictorial manner of "He Is Risen" and "The Coming of Christ." It also will discuss in depth the Korean war, the American Indian, the Nile River and a most ingenious portrayal of a living Shakespeare.

Other news and information department specials will provide a scope ranging from the fall of Stalin and the rise of the new Communism to a tender examination of "The Chosen Child."

In all, the network will produce 50 specials including six by Bob Hope and number of the network's "White Papers."

Although everyone and all tastes won't be catered to completely in this lineup, it appears to Jingo that the network has come as closely as humanly possible at this time.

CBS Presents Space, Grid TV Specials

BY TV SCOUT

7:30-8:30 Channel 2 — Business is picking up, and two slight specials are on tonight's schedule. First is Kickoff '62, which previews CBS' coming season of collegiate football telecasts. Lindsey Nelson is in charge of this show, which will bounce around from campus to campus for interviews, shots of cheering sections and marching bands getting ready and similar signs of the coming fall madness. There also will be a review of some top plays from last year.

9-9:30 Channel 2 — Tonight's other special is Our Next Man In Space, in which you'll meet Comdr. Walter M. Schirra Jr. Producer Don Hewitt and narrator Walter Cronkite have covered all the space shots, and Hewitt says the question they are most frequently asked is — what's Shepard (or Glenn or Carpenter) really like? He decided to introduce you to Schirra before his flight. There are great scenes of the astronaut tonight, as young son Chip old daughter to swim and discussing a Titan missile's path with his 12-year-old son.

6:30-7:30 Channel 4-5 — Outlaws repeat plays it for laughs tonight, with Slim Pickens' trained horse the guest star. This well-trained beast plays a nag the Indians palm off on Slim in some slick horse-trading. Slim wants to race him — but can't even ride him because the Indians say he only lets Pawnee stay on his back.

7:30-8:30 Channel 4-5 — Dr. Kildare repeat, like a recent Ben Casey repeat, is more timely now than when it was first shown because it involves smallpox, a disease which has recently been blotted out of the news. This show is realistic front and human and you come to care about the doctors and their patients. The story is about a smallpox victim, an elderly Polish man and Brill. (Color)

16-Summer Run of 'Common Glory' Ends At Williamsburg

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—The 16-summer run of "The Common Glory" ends this year.

A new pageant is being prepared as part of the festivities in the restored colonial village, according to an announcement by Lt. Gov. Miles E. Godwin Jr.

The drama, by Lawrence E. Watkin, is to open with Benedict Arnold's raid on a James River plantation during the Revolution, and end with the British surrender at Yorktown.

Sammy Davis Jr. Tests Acting Skill in Stock who won't say with whom he has been in contact.

8-8:30 Channel 11 — There's a tender story on My Three Son's repeat tonight, as young son Chip, is assigned to write a composition about his mother. He is, of course, motherless. So he visits his friends, to see what mothers are and what they do.

8:30-9 Channel 11—James Whitmore, on The Law and Mr. Jones' repeat, has a big decision to make. An old college hero of his seems to have been railroaded on a murder charge and Whitmore takes up the cudgels for justice.

But, on investigation, he realizes the man (John Larch) is a racial bigot, with Puerto Ricans his particular bete noire.

8:30-9 Channel 4-5 — The Liveliest Ones folds up with tonight's finale, which ends on the same note it began—good music, presented with originality.
